Working on an override

By Lisa A. Boudreau

The June 11 Town Meeting is not far off, and School Committee members are scrambling to get information to voters about the town and school budgets and the Proposition 2½ override question voters will face in a little more than one month.

Committee members are also meeting with the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee to drum up the individual board's support to ask the town for more money for both town and school budgets.

"If we could get the selectmen, the FinCom and the School Committee in a concerted effort would have a much better chance of passing the (override) articles at Town Meeting," said Richard Hubbell, School Committee member.

"We (School Committee) are still waiting for the other boards to make judgments on our proposal," said Andres Salazar, School Committee chairman.

The School Committee voted last week to present the town with two options to raise more money to run the school system and reduce the impact of budget cuts on children in the classroom. Both options would require a Prop. 2½ override.

Mr. Salazar and Joanne Marden, FinCom chairwoman, made a budget presentation to the selectmen Monday night. Mr. Salazar requested their support in asking the town for more money for joint town and school projects.

Selectmen plan to review budgets at their next meeting, Monday, April 30, when they said they will have a better

Re-thinking recycling

By Don Staruk

Curbside recycling could be reality in Andover as soon as July 1 if the town can afford it. But, curbside or not, current recycling programs in town are going to change by the end of June.

is whether the town can afford recycling.

"Whether we will be able to afford this, once we get the prices, I don't know," Mr. McQuade said Tuesday.

Bids from private contractors to pick up and transport the trash to disposal sites

'I suspect the only way you will get true recycling will be to make it mandatory.'

James McGiver
manager of RESCO

Bid specifications for a new curbside trash collection contract were completed this week and include curbside recycling options, according to Robert McQuade, Public Works director.

The big question remaining should be ready for consideration by the third week in May, the director said.

Mr. McQuade has requested prices from contractors on four different sets of specifications.

Post office to open downtown

By Don Staruk

It's official! A Postal Service station will be open in Old Town Hall this summer, according to Town Planner Steven Colyer.

"The station will go in Old Town Hall," Mr. Colyer said Wednesday. "It's a firm commitment from the Postal Service."

The Planning Board made details public of the plans to locate a postal station downtown at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The Postal Service plans include locating counter service, stamp and postal goods vending machines and 200 post office boxes in the station.

The station will be on the first floor on the left as you walk in the front door of Old Town Hall off Main Street and will be in "period decor," according to Mr. Colyer.

"In the 1800s, that's where the post office was." (Continued on page two)

Bruce Coppock meets Andover

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Bruce Coppock, the incoming director of the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts on Shawsheen Road, was introduced to Andover Tuesday night at a reception held at the center in his honor.

Mr. Coppock, 38, who signed a three-year contract, will be paid approximately $70,000 annually as the center's new managing director. He will begin July 1.

He replaces outgoing director Glen Gulezian, who chose not to renew his contract. Mr. Gulezian has managed the Collins Center since it was built seven

Christian Science case reaches Andover

By Don Staruk

David and Ginger Twitchell, of Boston, are on trial for manslaughter in the death of their son because they believe, as a number of Andover residents do, in their faith as Christian Scientists as a way of treating sickness.

But Nathan A. Talbot, a teacher of Christian Science and a leader of the Christian Science

Church in Boston, told a group gathered at Old Town Hall last Thursday night that it would be wrong to think of Christian Scientists as faith healers, or to use prayer as you would a drug.

"It's not medication on a shelf to take when you are sick. It's a whole way of life," Mr. Talbot told about 200 people who attended the discussion last week.

Robyn Twitchell died in 1986 at the age of 2½ from complications resulting from a bowel obstruction. His parents had, according to the teachings of their faith, relied on prayer to heal him after he fell sick. They now face manslaughter charges in a trial that started last week in Boston.

office used to be, in that room," he said. "It was Old Town Hall Station, and that's what it is going to be."

The plans are to use an antique oak front, complete with windows, that the Postal Service has in storage. Postmaster Tony Mendoza also has some antique postal boxes that will be used in the station, according to Mr. Colyer.

"They're going to try and make it a period decor in keeping with the nature of the building," he said.

The Postal Service has told the Planning Department it will try to get its contractors to begin work on the station by July 1.

"We're down to design now," said Mr. Colyer, adding that the work should take less than a month to complete.

At the board meeting Tuesday night, kudos were given to Mr. Mendoza, the Postal Service officials who worked with the town on the project and to Congressman Chester Atkins' office for pushing the plans along, according to Mr. Colyer.

"It's probably the best win-win situation I've ever seen," Mr. Colyer said.

Postal service has not been available downtown since the post office was relocated to its new building on Stevens Street last year.

Shawsheen service

The Postal Service is also planning to keep a postal station in Shawsheen Village as well, but will continue to try to relocate that station to a new building in the same general area.

The lease is up on the current building on North Main Street and Postal Service officials do not want to renew at that site for safety reasons. That building is also not handicapped accessible, and they are hoping to find a new site that is.

A Post Office will be located inside Old Town Hall.

Fur Storage Time is NOW!

5 Questions To Ask Before You Store Your Fur.

1. Will my fur be stored on the premises in modern vault facilities?
2. Can my fur be cleaned, glazed and repaired on the premises?
3. Are there professional furriers on the premises to remodel and restyle my fur?
4. Will you store my fur, even though it was purchased elsewhere?
5. Can I pick up my fur within a matter of minutes, if need be?

The answer to these questions is YES, and that's the way it's always been for 90 years.

Another reason why you don't have to know furs. You just have to know Weiner's.

News In Brief

Charity walk set for Sunday

The March of Dimes 20-km walkathon through Andover and Lawrence will be held Sunday, April 29, beginning and ending at the Greater Lawrence Technical High School on River Road.

Registration is at 8 a.m. and the walk begins at 9 a.m. An aerobic warm-up will be held at 8:35.

More than 800 walkers are expected to participate. Teams of from five to 10 walkers from area companies, Andover High School and other organizations, as well as individual walkers will attend.

Entertainment will include a D.J., clowns and food at each of the checkpoints, as well as a finish line party.

Money raised will benefit the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundations Campaign for Healthier Babies in medical research, educational materials and community service programs in the fight against birth defects, low birth weight and infant mortality.

Board denies grievance

Last year's girls varsity softball coach, Patricia Thomson, who wasn't rehired this year, was denied a grievance by the School Committee last Tuesday night, April 10, in a closed-door meeting.

Mrs. Thomson, 13 Lowell Junction Road, the varsity softball coach for the last 14 years, has asked the teachers' union to file for arbitration. The Andover Education Association, the teachers' union, will decide at its May 3 meeting whether to take the case to arbitration.

Kenneth Seifert, superintendent of schools, said all coaches in Andover are signed to one-year contracts that are subject to renewal each year.

The previous two years, Mrs. Tomson's team won only four of 34 games. According to Andres Salazar, School Committee chairman, the committee decided the team needed a change.

Last year's assistant coach, Kenneth Pellerin, was appointed head coach this year. So far the team has lost its first four games.

Susan Tucker (D-Andover) chats with Sidney Zussman, owner of West Street Motors and an active member of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, at Ms. Tucker's cocktail party to kick off her re-election campaign last week. Manager to be paid $75K

By Don Staruk

Reginald "Buzz" Stapczynski has accepted a contract offer from the Board of Selectmen that will make him the new town manager as of June 4. He will be paid an annual salary of $75,000.

Selectmen announced the contract agreement at a regular board meeting Monday night.

Board members William Downs and Charles Wesson negotiated the contract with Mr. Stapczynski during the last two weeks and the new manager signed a final version Monday afternoon, according to Mr. Downs.

Mr. Stapczynski is leaving his job as town manager for the town of Wilmington where his salary was $71,000. He takes the place of Kenneth Mahony who was being paid $75,000 when he resigned effective this past February.

Mr. Stapczynski was selected from 102 candidates who applied for the town manager position. The process has taken more than four months so far and will have been just about six months by the time he takes office.

Frederick Stott, Finance Committee member, said that as a citizen he thought the selectmen deserved high commendation for the manner in which they handled the hiring process.

"I just think the process and the way you handled it was first rate," Mr. Stott told board members after the announcement was made.

Seeking funds for antique organ

By Don Staruk

A committee of volunteers has been working to restore an antique Robert Morgan organ for the Old Town Hall and is looking for benefactors to help fund the project.

The organ was donated to the town by the late Earl L. Miller, but was not in playable condition. A restoration project was pioneered by Mr.

Miller, an organist at Christ Church for many years until his death last June. Since Mr. Miller's death, the project has faltered, according to Teresa Morgan, a volunteer working to continue the program.

"Earl was like a walking one-man band," Ms. Morgan said Monday night.

Ms. Morgan made a presentation to the Board of Selectmen Monday to get publicity for the organ restoration project in hopes of attracting the attention of benefactors to support the project.

"It's going to cost $65,000 to complete the instrument," Ms. Morgan told board members.

The volunteers will try to raise an additional $80,000 on top of that to create a fund for maintaining the instrument and paying a $4,000-a-year salary to a trained organist to play the instrument at functions.

"The instrument is an outreach to the community. The fundraising can be as well," she said.

Town officials, including former Town Manager Kenneth Mahony and acting Town Manager Tony Torrisi, have been very supportive of the project. Mr. Miller's death has been a real loss for the effort, according to Mr. Torrisi.

The organ has 10 ranks, or 10 families of pipes, and 163 stops, all unified to get a large variety of sound out of it, according to Ms. Morgan. A playing console would reside on the balcony at Old Town Hall.

Selectmen suggested the volunteers look into obtaining grants to fund the restoration and praised the group's efforts.

Models plan show

The Chippendale Finishing & Modeling School will hold its graduation fashion show Thursday, April 26, at 7 p.m. at Andover Town Hall.

Since September, 35 students have been learning finishing and modeling techniques. The purpose of the program is to help young ladies establish proper manners so they feel comfortable in all social and business relationships. The program also includes classes on makeup, skin care, color analysis, photography, wardrobe, runway modeling, haircare and styling, nutrition, exercise, manicuring and visual poise. Students will use the skills learned in public speaking class to introduce each other and present a personal profile.

The public is invited. Admittance is free.

Seeking the perfect body

"In Pursuit of the Perfect Body, 1850-1950" opens today at the Andover Historical Society, 97 Main St., with a reception from 6:30 to 8 p.m. The public is invited.

This exhibit, unofficially subtitled "Health, Fitness and Sport in American Society," focuses on Andover and is designed to appeal to people of all ages. Among the artifacts featured are an 1880's high-wheel bicycle; late 19th- and early 20th-century skis, tennis racquets, golf clubs and other sporting equipment; action and team photographs of male and female Andover athletes in period attire; early 20th-century home medical devices; and advertisements for patent medicines promising cures for every malady imaginable.

Americans' obsession today with special diets, health foods and exercise of all sorts in order to achieve the perfect body is nothing new. Its roots go back to the reform movement of the 1830s when many believed the survival of the American republic and the nation's preparedness for the Second Coming of Christ depended not only on the moral and spiritual regeneration of the people but also on their physical well-being. According to publications of the period, Americans were suffering from digestive and nervous disorders, referred to generically as "dyspepsia" and "neurasthenia," in near epidemic proportions. Excessive eating and drinking and the stressful and sedentary nature of urban life were identified among the primary causes of these maladies. In an effort to restore society and the individual to a healthy state, physicians and self-appointed reformers assumed the task of devising and promoting a variety of cures and preventive measures over the next 100 or so years.

Not surprisingly, most remedies had their advocates and detractors. The Andover Historical Society's exhibit il-

Coombs puts her perfectionism to work

Nancy Coombs, an image consultant and wedding assistant at 6 Brundrett Ave., specializes in buying clothes, gifts and turning women into beautiful brides.

She believes that the average consumer no longer has the time or patience to shop for quality bargains, so Images offers to perform all the necessary legwork to develop a person's image and wardrobe. Ms. Coombs boasts that she can deliver superior goods at bargain prices.

"One fashion mistake can cost far more than my services," she says. "My clients have found that the money I save them on clothes offsets the price I charge for these services. My primary goal is to make them look their best within their budget."

A one-time fee of $85 is charged for the initial consultation. The consultation enables Ms. Coombs to discuss what stays, what goes and what is needed to enhance the client's current wardrobe. Shopping services are $45 per hour. The average client usually requires only three to five hours of shopping and commission is never charged.

Ms. Coombs prides herself on creating gift ideas that are original. Ideas range from exotic gloves with fur trim to estate jewelry or antique furniture from out-of-the-way dealers. One of Images' most popular gift choices are custom-made gift baskets coordinated to the specific tastes of the recipient. For example, Ms. Coombs created a "get well basket" filled with such goodies as a movie video, book of jokes, handheld Nintendo game and other items she knew the person would enjoy.

One client who always forgot his anniversary wanted something special, so Ms. Coombs created a basket including a bottle of Dom Perignon, a single rose, chocolate covered strawberries, a reservation card to a restaurant and two tickets to "Les Miserables." All this is nestled in fabric and wrapped. Prices for baskets begin at $50.

Ms. Coombs also has ideas for those who do not have a lot to spend, such as lingerie, a gift certificate for a facial and body scrub in town, or a night on the town with a horse and buggy ride included. Gift buying services are $45 per hour. One to three hours are usually required.

Bridal preparations and the wedding day are one of the most important times in a woman's life, according to Ms. Coombs. She personally attends to the bride's every need so she is pampered and ready for the camera and the celebration. Bridal services include arrival at the house two hours before the ceremony equipped with supplies to handle dressing and preparing the bride for home photographs.

"A wedding is a big investment. Unfortunately, people spend thousands of dollars for a perfect wedding and give little thought as to the needs of the bride, when, in fact, it is she who is to be the focus of attention. I have seen lots of weddings in a state of chaos because people didn't expect dilemmas or distractions. I have seen many bridal photographs ruined because no one was there to pay close attention to what was happening during the photo sessions," says Ms. Coombs.

People often confuse Images' bridal assistance with a wedding consultant, when, in fact, the two are quite different. Ms. Coombs explains, "Wedding consultants are hired to plan the wedding and concentrate on the surroundings (church, reception site, menu, seating arrangements, etc.). My job as a bridal assistant is to focus solely on the bride to ensure that she looks her best and feels confident so that memories of her wedding day will be happy ones."

Bridal services are priced at $45 per hour.

Ms. Coombs' interest began when she helped at her mother's consignment store, The Depot. "I gained a valuable experience from The Depot where I had to coordinate second-hand clothing and make it presentable to the consumer."

She worked her way through college by doing temporary work, as well as working for an upscale retail clothing store. Ms. Coombs graduated cum laude from Newbury College with an associate's degree in merchandising and moved on to Suffolk University where she graduated in 1987 with a bachelor of science degree in marketing.

"The most important thing I learned in school is that you first have to sell yourself before you can sell any type of product. This is why I decided to concentrate on the image concept. I guess being a perfectionist helped — I can't stand to see anything out of place," she says.

After college she worked at Herman Geist as a customer service representative and then at Susan Bristol. Images works with people of all sizes, careers and image expectations.

"I have no specific territorial boundaries. I go directly to the client so it is easier for them. Impeccable service is my business."

WFS leases space here

Cabot, Cabot & Forbes announces that WFS (Warrington Financial Systems) has leased approximately 10,000 square feet of space on the first floor of Five Corporate Drive in the Andover Corporate Center.

The Cambridge division of WFS has been relocated to the second building in Andover Corporate Center in a move to consolidate the firm's northeast operations in one location. Last year WFS moved its operations from North Andover to One Corporate Drive.

Project Manager Michael B. Wilcox represented Cabot, Cabot & Forbes in the transaction and brokers Mark Winters and Mark Roth of Cushman and Wakefield represented the tenant. Five Corporate Drive is 75 percent leased.

WFS is the single largest provider of automated trading and accounting software for the capital markets segment of the banking and financial industries. The firm services more than 7,000 financial institutions across the country and transacted in excess of $40 million in 1988. The Andover office is the headquarters of the micro products division and employs 49 people. The Cambridge division is responsible for the development of mainframe-based financial software. WFS has chosen Andover Corporate Center for this consolidation because of the first-quality building features and sophisticated building design, access to major transportation routes and proximity to employees.

Project Manager Mike Wilcox stated, "We are very pleased to be able to accommodate the consolidation and expansion of a valued tenant such as WFS. Andover Corporate Center has successfully provided the kind of first class office environment, which appeals to such premier service corporations."

Ventre is outreach leader

Janice Ventre of Farrwood Drive has accepted a position as outreach coordinator with The Samaritans of the Merrimack Valley. This half-time position is part of an expanded program the Samaritans are providing, with the assistance of a special grant from the United Fund of the Merrimack Valley in 1989.

Mrs. Ventre has two children in the Andover school system and has been a volunteer in the Project Charlie program at Bancroft School. Her work with the Samaritans will include the coordination of suicide awareness and prevention programs in the schools and the implementation of expanded services to the elderly.

The Samaritans' primary service is a 24-hour crisis line, providing free telephone access to people who are depressed or suicidal. Their outreach programs include several support groups: Safe Place for those who have lost a family member or friend through suicide, Concerned Friends for people living with depressed family members or friends and Lifeline, a program in the Lawrence House of Correction.

The Samaritans are recruiting volunteers for their spring class, beginning May 10. For further information, call The Samaritan Center, 55 Jackson St., Lawrence.

"THERE'S A RIGHT WAY AND A WRONG WAY TO USE A HOME EQUITY CREDITLINE."

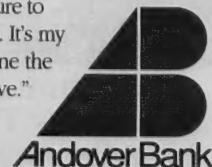

"Our Fixed Rate Feature helps make sure your Equity Creditline is used the right way. It would be right to amortize — or pay back — an Andover Bank Equity Creditline over ten years for home improvements you might need. But amortizing an Equity Creditline over ten years to purchase a car would be just plain wrong. Because a car should be paid for in three to five years.

At Andover Bank, you can segment the way you pay back your Equity Creditline for as many as five different needs — home improvement, a new car, college funding, paying unexpected medical bills, even a dream vacation. Segmenting is the smart way to repay the loan properly — a home improvement segment in ten years, a car segment in three to five years, and so forth.

There's more — you can convert these segments to a fixed rate during a period of rising interest rates. That way, you benefit from low variable rates during low interest periods and a fixed rate when interest rates may be climbing. And unlike other kinds of lending, your Equity Creditline interest, in most cases, is fully tax deductible for loans up to $100,000. You should consult your tax advisor for details.

For more information, or to obtain a Home Equity Creditline Brochure, call us at (508) 475-6103, or stop by any convenient Andover Bank office today. You're sure to discover that there's no catch to this kind of financing. If there were, I'd tell you. It's my job to see that you have an opportunity to use an Andover Bank Equity Creditline the smartest way possible. After all, you're the most important customer I'll ever have."

Rafuse to head local firm

Robert J. Rafuse will head the newly opened North Shore office of Swerling Milton Winnick Public Insurance Adjusters Inc. The century-old firm recently opened its new office at Riverbend Business Park in Andover to better serve clients in northeastern Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Unlike insurance company adjusters who work for insurance companies, licensed public insurance adjusters represent the interests of property owners exclusively when it comes to preparing insurance claims following a fire, flood or other disaster.

Mr. Rafuse, a vice president, joined Swerling Milton Winnick more than 10 years ago and has been a licensed public insurance adjuster since 1978. He is licensed to practice in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island and holds membership in the National Association of Public Insurance Adjusters, Massachusetts Association of Public Insurance Adjusters, National Fire Protection Association, American Society of Professional Estimators and The American Arbitration Association.

Mr. Rafuse is also a construction expert who is a licensed construction supervisor and member of the Construction Specifications Institute.

He explains, "Public insurance adjusters are often retained when business, home and commercial real estate owners suffer a loss from fire, flood, storm and other disasters. The public adjuster represents the property owner and is well-qualified to deal with the complexity of resolving insurance claims for property damage and loss of income stemming from a disaster."

"An array of issues can arise over how the property owner will be compensated. For example, an insurance company may, at first, be willing to only clean a smoke damaged carpet while the property owner may be entitled to full replacement cost."

Most new parents have an instinctive reaction when their baby cries. They drop whatever they are doing. They rush to the child's side. They try to determine if the infant is wet, hungry or in some sort of discomfort, and they take steps to remedy the situation. If they find nothing apparently wrong, they generally pick the child up in their arms and soothe the child by hugging and kissing, giving the child a sense of security. This is perfectly normal and natural. You will not spoil your baby this way. There is no way to "spoil" a child during the first six months of life.

Andover people are re-thinking recycling

The first is for a new five-year curbside trash collection contract. The current contract with Waste Management ends June 30.

The second set of specifications are for weekly curbside pickup of newspaper, glass and plastic for recycling. A third request is for the same curbside pickup, but on a bi-monthly schedule.

The fourth set of specifications is for supplying a container to each residence for glass and plastic recycling. Newspapers would still need to be bagged or bundled.

Mr. McQuade also is preparing a fallback plan to set up a permanent recycling station next to the town maintenance building on Red Spring Road, in case the bids for curbside recycling prove to be too expensive.

But he wouldn't be pinned down on which plan he thought had the best chance of succeeding.

"I'll tell you after I open the bids," Mr. McQuade said.

Volunteer effort could end

While ever-increasing costs for trash disposal and public sentiment for saving the environment have been part of the impetus to invest in new recycling programs, Andover also has another reason to look extra hard at a municipal recycling program. Andover Recycling Inc. may go out of business.

The members of Andover Recycling, the volunteer group that has organized the recycling effort in town for the past 20 years, are ready to turn the task over to the town, according to two longtime organizers of the recycling effort.

Virginia Cole and Tina Girdwood, former and current presidents of the group respectively, and other members of the group are trying to convince Mr. McQuade that it is time the town took over the recycling program, according to Ms. Girdwood.

"It's not that we're old and tired and want to resign, which may be true, but we want a more comprehensive program for the town," Ms. Girdwood said last week.

The group's top people have decided to get out of the business July 1, according to Ms. Cole, but she said younger members may take the torch should the town balk at picking up the program.

"That is possible. I just don't know," Ms. Cole said.

The group's contract with a private collector is up in June and the women said this would be a good time for the town to pick up the effort.

"We see this as our opportunity to say to the new solid waste contractor, 'We want you to give us a bid on recycling as well,'" Ms. Girdwood said. "And everybody wants it."

The group has made similar proposals in the past, but Ms. Girdwood said it could be different this time.

"The difference is, now Waste Management is in the business of recycling," Ms. Girdwood said.

The members of Andover Recycling are anxious to get a look at the bids that come in and they are not going to accept no for an answer without a fight, according to Ms. Cole. "When we get the figures, and if Mr. McQuade decides he can't afford it, our committee is going to question that," Ms. Cole said. "I think that there are probably innovative ways that we can have curbside recycling within this budget."

Wide support

Mr. McQuade, Tony Torrisi, budget and finance director, and former Town Manager Ken Mahony have been very supportive of recycling efforts, according to Ms. Girdwood.

"We never could have survived this long if we hadn't had their support," she said.

And while Mr. Torrisi continues to support their efforts, like Mr. McQuade, he is somewhat skeptical as to what the town can afford.

"They want a complete recycling program, and I don't know if that's possible," Mr. Torrisi said.

Selectman Gerald Silverman, in commenting the efforts of the Earth Day organizers, said during Monday night's board meeting, "The word I'm getting is that we've got to do more recycling. That's the message that came through."

The town's Planning Department, in the latest draft of the master plan, also supported a more comprehensive recycling program.

The report suggested that the town "pursue an expanded curbside recycling program, including an extensive public education effort promoting recycling and reduction in solid waste generation."

Current efforts

The town spends $1 of every $14 of revenue on residential garbage disposal, a total of $789,824 in fiscal 1989.

The town currently pays about $64 a ton for solid waste disposal. A total of 12,341 tons were disposed of in 1989. That figure will probably increase 1,000 tons by 1995.

Andover Recycling handled 1,629 tons of paper, plastic and glass last year, or 13.2 percent of the town's solid waste, saving the town $104,256 in disposal costs. The town subsidizes Andover Recycling at $60,000 a year, so the net savings was $44,256, according to the group's year-end report.

Andover Recycling has a goal of collecting 25 percent of the town's trash, about 3,085 tons, by the end of this fiscal year. The savings of not having to pay for dumping the trash at the incinerator should be enough to pay a contractor to pick it up and cart it away, according to the groups figures.

But making the recycling effort successful is going to take more than redistributing shrinking funds.

Making it pay

The key to a successful recycling effort is creating a market for the recycled products, according to James McGiver, manager of Refuse Energy Systems Corporation.

RESCO operates the trash incinerator where Andover's trash is burned in North Andover. The plant services the 23 communities of the North East Solid Waste Committee, burning 1,500 tons of trash a day. The steam driven turbine at the plant produces 225,000 megawatts of electricity, which it sells to New England Power.

"At the moment, we burn everything: paper, plastics and so forth," Mr. McGiver said during a tour of the plant last week.

"A market for aluminum and plastics is being developed," he said.

But until a market for the recycled paper, glass and other products is created, there is not sufficient incentive for voluntary recycling on a large scale, according to Mr. McGiver. Until that market is created, it will be up to towns to control the effort.

"I suspect the only way you will get true recycling will be to make it mandatory," he said.

His company is ready and willing to respond to the increasing demand for recycling, according to Mr. McGiver.

The parent company of RESCO has franchise rights to a Swiss technology recycling system, which will become part of the plant's operations once sufficient recycling efforts warrant it, he said.

"Recycling hasn't become a real hot issue until the last two or three years. In keeping with the times, the company will be adapting," Mr. McGiver said. "In the future, there will be recycling up front."

Andover Recycling's president is hopeful for the future.

"I think we're all working toward the same thing, and that's good," Ms. Girdwood said.

Here's how to recycle

Newspaper: Every other week on regular trash day. Put it at the roadside by 7 a.m. in bundles or paper bags. Keep it separate from the regular trash.

Corrugated paper and cardboard: Can be recycled with newspaper and must be bundled.

SCHOOLS

A long day for the band

Members of the Andover High School Band and their parents are planning a musical playathon Saturday, April 28, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Doherty Middle School's Memorial Auditorium.

The Andover High band will play from the hour to the half hour. The rest of the time will be filled by musical groups from the school and community. The musicians will raise money from pledges of support per hour played.

Here is how the day will be broken up:

9:30 a.m. Diana Kolben, fine arts director, harp solo.

9:45 a.m. Christy Welty, vocalist.

10:30 a.m. Source, fusion jazz group.

11:30 a.m. Merrimack Valley Towns- men, barbershop quartet.

12:30 p.m. Back Bay Society Band.

1:30 p.m. Terry Ingram, vocalist, and Ken Gable, saxophone.

2:30 p.m. Clan McPherson Pipe Band.

3:30 p.m. West and Sanborn elementary school bands.

4:30 p.m. Confetti Kids.

5:30 p.m. Doherty Middle School Musical Ensemble.

6:30, 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. New Liberty Jazz Band.

Funds will also be raised during the playathon through a sale of home-baked goods from the band parents and a silent auction. Some of the wide variety of items up for bid are weekend vacation retreats, whole weekends of babysitting, a weed wacker, a full day of yard work, a telephone answering machine, an AHS season's athletic pass, box-seat Red Sox tickets, crafts, a hotel overnight stay including brunch and certificates to restaurants, beauty salons and health clubs.

The recipient of each item will be announced at the end of the playathon.

Pike French students leave for Quebec City

A group of 47 eighth-graders and five faculty members from Pike School will leave tomorrow, April 27, for a three-day weekend in Quebec City. The trip will enable these French students to practice their language skills in a European-like city.

Friday and Saturday's itinerary includes seeing sites of historic and cultural importance as well as time for shopping. The group is staying at Loew's Le Concorde, located on Quebec's Grande Allee. Meals in a variety of places give an exposure to different types of foods, faculty said.

An evening of cultural entertainment will include storytellers relating folk tales and demonstrations of folk dancing. The students will visit a museum Sunday morning before their return.

Eighth-graders have been preparing for this trip during the past month. They have been studying French-speaking Can- (Continued on page 18)

Marcus DeLoach plays the perplexed dairyman Teyve in Andover High's upcoming production of "Fiddler on the Roof."

Andover High stages 'Fiddler'

Andover High School's Drama Guild and music department will perform "Fiddler on the Roof," the story of social conflicts among the Jewish population of a small village in Czarist Russia in 1905.

Czarist edicts demonstrate anti-Semitism, and Marxism questions time-honored traditions and particularly the tradition of the matchmaker in the classic musical. New ideas from the city fight for the minds of the adolescents of the village.

Directed by Robert A. Lague, assisted by W. Douglas Halsted, and choreographed by Jan McTeague, "Fiddler" will be staged Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, at 8 p.m. in the Collins Center on Shawsheen Road. Tickets are $6 and may be purchased from any cast member or at the door.

Members of the cast include Marcus DeLoach as Teyve, the dairyman; Beth Robinson and Amanda Witman sharing the role of Teyve's wife, Golde; Elaine Eriksen and Althea Rivera, daughter Tzeitel; Mandy Gulezian and Betsy Taylor, daughter Hodel; Tanya Tamarkin and Sarah Walker, daughter Chava; Maura Collins, daughter Sprintze; Cesha Yentre, daughter Bielke; Jen Welty, Yente, the Matchmaker; Doug Gordon, Motel, the tailor; Mike Sintros, Perchik, the student; Tim Plankey, Lazar Wolf, the butcher; Matt Radack, Mordecha, the innkeeper; Jon Reilly, Rabbi; Ethan Krasnoo, Mendel, his son; Michael Weiner, Avrahm, the bookseller; Jeff Marx, Nachum, the beggar; Jared Greenberg, Yussel, the hatmaker; Rachel Chandler, Grandma Tzeitel; Caren Stutz, Fruma-Sarah; Jason Barenholtz, Constable; Mike Plankey, Fyedka; Nicole Gorton, Shaindel, Motel's mother; John Grabowski, Priest/Sasha; Patrick Sullivan and Dan Taylor, village boys; W. Douglas Halsted III, Russian solo; and Weslie Byers, fiddler/chava dancer.

Betsy Taylor, Elaine Eriksen and Tanya Tamarkin try to cope with a changing world. The three will perform Friday, May 4, and other students will take over the next night.

This Story Should Be Of Great Interest To You.

Once upon a time there was a frog who decided he'd rather be a prince than a pauper. So he took his nest egg from under his lily pad, and put it into a Great Rate Instant Rebate CD at Lawrence Savings Bank. Not only did the frog get a secure investment with one of the highest rates around, but he received an immediate cash bonus. Come July 5th he'll also have a shot at winning an additional $1000 in our Independence Day Drawing.

The moral of the story? Good things come to those who get our Great Rate Instant Rebate CD. Get yours today.

Receptions coming up

West Middle School students will be honored for their academic achievements next month.

The sixth-grade scholars' reception will be May 8; seventh grade, May 16; and eighth grade, May 17. They will all start at 7:30 p.m.

West's annual open house will be held Thursday, May 24, from 5 to 9 p.m.

Students learn about leadership qualities

By Jen Kitowicz

West Middle School students learned how to be better leaders in a special program this year. The students were chosen by faculty members to be involved in this special activity. The main objective is to show participants what being a good leader is all about. In the process, students learn how to make better choices when making important decisions.

West was one of 12 schools that met four times during the year at Honeywell, Northeastern University, Bradford College and Phillips Academy.

Representatives of these organizations gave presentations on what qualities they found in a successful leader. They stressed the importance of making good decisions, since many people are affected in the process.

West Middle has invited all participating school leaders to a "Cabaret Night" in May. This should be a fun night of dancing and conversation.

The writer is a West Middle eighth-grader.

Senior wins scholarship

Andover High School senior Michael J. Clement of 3 Parnassus Place was one of 1,800 winners of National Merit $2,000 scholarships.

The scholars were chosen by a committee of college admissions officers and secondary school counselors who made their judgments on the basis of information from finalists and their high schools.

Mr. Clement, who is interested in a career in electrical engineering, is the AHS salutatorian and a member of the National Honor Society. He is a three-year member of the Math Team, of which he is co-captain, and has been on student government for two years.

He is on the publicity committee of the Alexander Graham Bell Association and won a national achievement award for an oral deaf student. He is a Big Brother and a church hospitality minister.

Mr. Clement's scholarship was sponsored by Johnson Worldwide Associates Inc.

West ends bottle drive

West Elementary will hold its final collection for the bottle and can drive. All soft drink cans and bottles can be brought to school with the children during the week of April 30 to May 4.

Beer bottles and cans will be accepted on May 5. Proceeds go to the playground fund.

COOKING

In the fast lane by choice

By Hannah Kleiman

Terry Cutting has a dream. She's relaxing after a hard day at work, watching the evening news and someone yells out "Dinner's ready." After eating a well-balanced meal, she tells everyone at the table that she has to get back to her program while the dishes get washed and put away.

In reality, Terry Cutting, of Gavin Circle, is a full-time wife, mother and owner of Merle Norman Cosmetics of Andover. These jobs keep her constantly on the go.

"I feel I'm in the fast lane, but by choice," she says. She loves what she does. Owning her own shop is "exciting and rewarding." Meeting and helping people gives her a sense of purpose. "It is very challenging to have one's own business and make it a success."

But like most people these days, Ms. Cutting also has become very aware of staying trim and fit and eating right. With her schedule it has been difficult to come up with quick and nutritious meals for her family. This precipitated a desire to slow down somewhat.

"I came from a family that did everything from scratch, but now I don't find cooking as rewarding anymore." Ms. Cutting finds that most meals take too much time to prepare.

With a little extra planning, though, and a lot of help from some great cookbooks, as well as a desire to have her family eating healthy, nutritious meals, Ms. Cutting has been learning to prepare quick and tasty menus. She is also a staunch advocate of starting the day with a healthy, non-sugary breakfast.

Her husband, George, works for the phone company. Their daughters, Mary, 15, a boarder at Governor Dummer Academy in Byfield, and Kelly, 10, at West Elementary School, have learned to take on more responsibilities when at home. Ms. Cutting still finds the time to participate in a parent-run organization at Governor Dummer, as well as help at the Merrimack Junior Theatre, for Kelly.

Here are some of her recipes:

illustrates and examines the effectiveness of a few of the most popular approaches to achieving the perfect body, including the use of patent medicines and electrical stimulation devices, the consumption of health foods, exercise and the elimination of corsets. As Americans devoted themselves to strengthening and invigorating their bodies, images of physical beauty and well-being changed dramatically. Whereas rotundity had once been a sign of health and wealth, by the early 20th century men who had muscles but did not work with their hands showed that they were the successful ones with the leisure time and discipline to train. For women, the wasp-waisted, heavily corseted figure was replaced in popular appeal by a lean, unbound, athletic physique.

The artifacts displayed in "In Pursuit of the Perfect Body, 1850-1950" draw largely from the society's own collections supplemented by loans from local individuals and institutions. The exhibit was researched and installed by volunteers Robin Sung, Margaret Roberts,

Dorothy Tavern, Norma Gammon, Priscilla Alden, Karen Herman, Barbara Alden, Kalman Lynch and Helen Cromie and guided by Director/Curator Charlotte Smith.

Working on an override of Prop. 2½

idea of what funding needs they will have.

Ms. Marden told the selectmen that overriding Prop. 2½ for either of the School Committee's two options is a two-step process. This two-step process requires getting as much information as possible out to voters so they can make "intelligent" decisions about what they want to fund, she said.

Step one is a vote at Town Meeting to approve a $1.5 million article for maintenance projects for both the town and schools, she said.

This money would then free up a smaller amount of money already budgeted for school projects to be returned to the schools' operation budget.

Step two happens if the article is passed at Town Meeting.

Within 45 days of the Town Meeting vote, said Ms. Marden, citizens would face a ballot question to override Prop. 2½ to raise the tax rate and appropriate the money approved at Town Meeting.

A simple majority is needed to raise the tax rate.

If the first article fails at Town Meeting, a second article will follow that same night, asking for an additional $500,000 for the schools' operating budget. As with the first option, a ballot question to override Prop. 2½ would follow to appropriate the $500,000.

Ms. Marden also presented a chart that approximates the effect on the town's residential tax rate if either of the two overrides are passed. Without either of the overrides, a $100,000 home-owner would pay about $25 more than last year on his or her tax bill and a $300,000 home-owner would pay about $75 more.

If the most expensive override is passed, the increase for the $100,000 homeowner would jump $41. A person who owned a house worth $300,000 would see a tax increase of about $123. According to Ms. Marden, 80 percent of Andover's single-family homeowners fall into the $100,000-$300,000 category.

If the second option is passed, the effect would be about $38 and $114, on the $100,000 and $300,000 homeowners respectively.

"It's going to be a big education process," Ms. Marden said of the job facing the three boards over the next few weeks before Town Meeting.

"People will want to know what they will get for their tax dollar if they override (Prop. 2½) and what they won't get for services in the schools if they don't override," she said.

Susan Poore, School Committee member, who believes the committee can run the system within the $21.9 million originally allocated, said in an interview with the Townsman last Friday that this type of budget analysis mentioned by Ms. Marden should have been done more thoroughly by the School Committee before it voted to present the two override questions to the town.

"The School Committee has put itself into a defenseless position," Ms. Poore said of the move to go to Town Meeting with an unbalanced budget and ask for more money contingent on a Prop. 2½ override.

"Town Meeting is not representative of the entire town of Andover. People aren't going to go to Town Meeting and stand up and say, 'I'm against education,'" said Ms. Poore last Friday.

"But what will happen is they will vote down an override on a second ballot question if they don't know what their money will buy the schools."

Drawing up the impact statements as well as the wording for the warrant articles is the next step for the School Committee, said Mr. Salazar.

The School Committee received support for its next endeavor from members of the audience at the Tuesday night meeting. A few parents in the audience told the committee they needed the impact statements so they could tell their neighbors and friends what's at risk if the town doesn't override.

"There is an apathy factor in town," said Lynda Murphy, 199 Shawshen Road.

"We have to inform the community that the quality of education will not be there if we don't fund it properly," she said.

The FinCom met Wednesday night to discuss the schools' budget, after the Townsman went to press. A joint meeting of the three boards will be held Wednesday, May 2, at 7:30 p.m.

Woman's Club plans banquet

The Shawshen Village Woman's Club annual banquet will be held at the Holiday Inn on the Andover-Tewksbury line Monday, May 7.

The evening will begin at 6:30. Dinner is at 7 p.m.

Adele Fyfe and Geraldine Patti are chairwomen for the event.

Christian Science case reaches town

The Christian Science Church is calling the case religious prosecution. The district attorney's office said children's rights are at issue, according to published reports.

The First Church of Christ Scientist, at 278 N. Main St., has less than 100 members from Andover, but also serves North Andover, Methuen and Lawrence, according to a church official. The Christian Science Reading Room, at 36 Main St., is also operated by the church.

Elizabeth Cahoon, of Brown Street, is chairwoman of the executive board of trustees and a spokesperson for the Andover church. She is also a teacher at Bancroft School and a lifelong Christian Scientist.

"I am the fourth generation and my nieces and nephews are the fifth generation of life-long Christian Scientists," she said Wednesday. "I've never been to a doctor except for a physical for my certification as a teacher."

Her faith "has never been an issue" in her job as a teacher, she said.

She also explained how she dealt with a child who threw up in her class this week.

"I called the nurse," Ms. Cahoon said.

Ms. Cahoon sympathizes with the Twitchells for having to suffer through the court case, but also credits the district attorney's office for going ahead with the case.

"God bless them for doing this," Ms. Cahoon said.

The district attorney's office is doing what it believes is right, she said. The church, she said, is doing the same thing.

"We believe we are doing what's right for us, which is standing on prayer," she said. "We've been doing it for over 100 years and working successfully at it."

"I wouldn't want to be the judge sitting on this one; it's church and state and First Amendment," Ms. Cahoon said.

The death of the Twitchells' son shouldn't be used to condemn the church. Both she and Mr. Talbot pointed out that when a medical doctor loses a patient, the doctor isn't tried and the treatment he used condemned.

One failure doesn't mean the religion has failed or that the religion is wrong, according to Ms. Cahoon.

Explaining the faith
In his discussion last week, Mr. Talbot explained Christian Science as a communion with God and "not a case of mind over matter."

He pointed out prominent and successful persons who are Christian Scientists to show that it is not a freak religion. He also explained that it's also not a case that practitioners don't believe in doctors.

"They have chosen a path that has more effectively, more consistently met their needs," Mr. Talbot said.

In answering why Christian Scientists don't combine the best of both worlds, medical treatment and faith, he said, "Spirit really is the only power," and that it would be ineffective to try to merge two inconsistent beliefs.

The legality issue of Christian Science faith as a viable treatment for physical ills goes back at least to 1909, according to Mr. Talbot. And a law passed by the Massachusetts Legislature in 1971 recognized faith as a medical treatment and, in a precedent case, relieved parents of responsibility in a case in which a child died as a result of such treatment, he said.

The Twitchells are being prosecuted because of a mistake in the prosecutors' office, according to Mr. Talbot.

"The mistake that there's only one way to care for a child," that being traditional medicine, he said.

Christian Science has "a major and important role in society," Mr. Talbot said.

Sanborn Elementary School helps celebrate Earth Day and beautify their school's exterior at the same time by planting rose bushes donated by the Andover Marriott. At the planting ceremony are, from left, Jessie Fink, daughter of Stephen and Frances Fink; Jeffrey Weber, son of Jeffrey and Deborah Weber; Sanborn Principal Eileen Woods; Marriott executive meeting manager Diane Veilleux; and Julianna Paolino, daughter of David and Corliss Paolino.

Nursery school students adopt endangered manatee

Students of the Andover Rompers Nursery School celebrated Earth Day by adopting a member of an endangered species. The students adopted a West Indian sea manatee named Lily through the Save the Manatee Club in Blue Spring State Park, Fla., a refuge for the large, gentle-natured sea mammals.

The students learned from their teachers, Mary Anne Richards, Phyllis Huse and Barbara Houston, how the manatees were once plentiful, but now only 1,200 are left in the United States due to hunting and the destruction of their natural habitat. The children were told the adoption fee they donated is used to help save the manatees.

Lily's adoptive parents at the Andover Rompers Nursery School are members of the three-day program: Matthew Bagnall, Melanie Burnett, Brett Carroll, Danielle Farrah, Christy Fiorentino, Kevin Gaines, Ashley Goulter, Devon Hutchins, Andrew Iannazzi, Sara Jenike, Meghan Licata, John Limauro, Mark Lotto, Meghan Lynch, Elizabeth MacPherson, Guy Mancini, Matthew Miller, Lauren Murray, Douglas Ramsdell, Tyler Richards, Jennifer Shipp, Sarah Lintros, Michael Sullivan and Alison Tradd.

Tenant Injuries

A tenant or guest injured by a defective condition in either an apartment, hallway, or exterior portion of a building may bring a lawsuit against the owner in order to obtain compensation for injuries even if the tenant knew the defect existed at the beginning of the tenancy. A landlord cannot evict or retaliate for the exercise of these rights. An attorney familiar with housing law and the requirements of the State Sanitary Code can assist in enforcing your rights.

Contact John S. Wessler, who represents tenants seeking compensation for violations of their rights.

Leading the way in recycling

By Virginia Cole

New industries seem to have languages all their own. Recycling is no different. Browning Ferris, the other big waste company besides Waste Management, is also in the recycling business and organizing and running recycleries.

These seem to be what we in Massachusetts were hoping to have and were called MRFS. A recyclery is a secondary materials processing facility. The recyclery in Jacksonville, Fla., is designed to accept all recyclable materials picked up curbside with only newspapers separated. Glass, plastic and cans are separated and prepared at the recyclery for markets where goods can and are being made from recycled products.

BFI has a recycling program in London and Ontario, Canada, similar to the one in Jacksonville and another in Gainesville, Fla. They are also involved in collecting yard wastes for composting and the making of mulch for retail sale. BFI totals 130 recyclable materials operations, which affect more than one million households in North America.

Here is another new word — glassphalt. A real triumph for recycling, New York City has been paving city streets since 1987 with a mixture of crushed glass and asphalt. Bottles from the city's solid waste stream are crushed and substituted for gravel at the city asphalt plants. Use of this recycled glass saves the city half a million dollars per year and landfill space — glass is used, not dumped. New York City streets may not yet be paved with gold but what about rhinestones for now?

The Washington Post newsroom is recycling. Personnel there are trying the white box for white paper; cream colored containers for envelopes; black plastic lined trash cans for trash. This is due to the mandatory recycling law in effect in Washington, D.C. The reporter from the Post writing about this does not seem too happy, but feels he must comply or be recycled himself into an environmental reporter. I would like to point out that more and more large cities are having mandatory recycling. It was always thought that would be difficult and the small towns would have to lead the way. Why aren't we leading?

We have some initial words that you may be hearing or perhaps even using — NIMBY (not in my backyard); GOOMBY (get out of my backyard) LULU (locally undesirable land use) and NIMEY (not in my election year). The last one scares me the most.

Club plans bird watching walk

The Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club invites the public to join members on a bird watching walk of about two hours at Pump's Pond, Andover, on Sunday, April 29, at 1:30 p.m.

The leader will be ornithologist Marc Koolen of Phillips Academy. Participants will be limited to 15 and must register with Warren Lewis of Andover at 475-1328.

Why do smart kids fail?

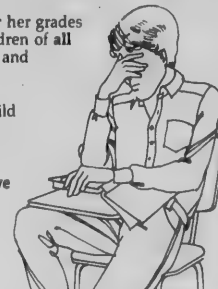

Your child may be smarter than his or her grades show. Our certified teachers help children of all ages overcome frustration and failure, and realize their potential.

A few hours a week can help your child improve weak basic skills and regain confidence and motivation.

Our testing pinpoints problems and we tutor in reading, study skills, math, writing, vocabulary, phonics, spelling and grammar to help students in all grades do better in school.

4 Reasons for Failure

- Weak Basic Skills
- Frustration with School
- Lack of Confidence

dled accordingly. Also junk mail, magazines, cereal boxes (take the wax paper out), etc. can be included.

Glass and plastic: First and third Saturday of the month, bring to West Middle School on Shawsheen Road between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Glass has to be separated according to color — clear, green and brown. It can be separated at the drop location or before arriving there. No plastic bags.

Plastic should be separated into groups — polystyrene (meat and vegetable trays); milk, water and juice jugs (flatten them to save space); all other household plastics (peanut butter jars, shampoo bottles, etc.) go together.

Aluminum: Cans can be taken to the same collection site as glass and plastic recycling collection, but should be rinsed thoroughly. (Of course cans can be returned, along with plastic bottles, to a store or redemption center for 5 cents each.) Other aluminum items (cooking pans, frozen food containers) go out with the trash.

Motor oil: Can be returned to any store where it was purchased, so long as a proof of purchase is provided and it is in a pourable container. This is Massachusetts state law. What cannot be recycled:

Furniture or appliances: One item each week can be put out with the trash each week.

Tires: Two tires per household can be discarded with the weekly trash curbside collection. That's stipulated in the town's contract.

Cast iron, copper, brass, steel and other metals: Take to scrap dealers.

Group offers health test

The Andover Health Department is offering cholesterol screening clinics on Wednesday, May 16, and Wednesday, June 20, by appointment between 9 a.m. and noon.

The finger-stick test doesn't require fasting and costs $3.

Call the health department at 470-3800, extension 255, to make make an appointment.

Author to talk here about herbs

Emelie Trolley, trend-setting author of two best-selling books on the art of growing and cooking with herbs, will be in Andover Saturday, May 5.

Ms. Trolley, with photographer Chris Mead, wrote "Herbs: Gardens, Decorations and Recipes" in 1984 and "Cooking with Herbs" in 1989. She is also an editor for "Victoria" magazine.

The public is invited to meet Ms. Trolley at Betsy Williams/the Proper Season, rear of 68 Park St., for an autograph party from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Herb growers might like to get some expert advice or just chat with Ms. Trolley and Ms. Williams over a cup of tea and some Emelie Trolley-inspired herbal cake.

Ms. Williams' work as a garden designer and herbal cook is included in the Tolley-Mead books. The women have been friends and collaborators since the early 1980s when Ms. Trolley published an herbal newsletter, "Living with Herbs."

DOWN THE YEARS

100 years ago
April 1890

Miss Helen Barnett will give an assembly for her pupils and friends in Town Hall to-night.

Phillips vs. Tufts College is the baseball game on the campus to-morrow afternoon.

George Saunders is putting in a new and selected stock of stoves, ranges, tinware, etc., and is better fitted than ever to supply his patrons.

Besides the running track, which is being built in the rear of the Mansion House barn, there will be several tennis courts.

The School committee has appointed Richard M. Abbott to take the census of the schools.

Mrs. E.C. Kelley has added to her millinery stock of fancy goods, consisting of veils, ruchings, etc.

Charles L. Carpenter leaves town today for New York, from which place he will sail Monday, to return to Nicaragua.

Spring repairs and improvements are going busily along. W.S. Jenkins is having his house raised. Napoleon Dubois is doing the stone work.

Brainard Cummings is shingling Miss Abbott's house on Punchard Avenue, and C.B. Mason is shingling and repairing several homes on the Hill. Arthur Bliss is having an addition and repairs made on his house and barn.

With the present good weather, it is expected that the pipe-laying in the center of the town will be resumed about May 1.

The stillness of Sunday afternoon was broken by the fire bells calling the Department to a brush fire in the woods on Indian Ridge. The fire had been burning for about half an hour, and when the firemen arrived it was burning fiercely. Armed with hoes and rakes they attacked it and after an hour's fighting succeeded in extinguishing it.

The progress however was greatly hindered by the dense smoke and the firemen had a hard time of it. The origin of the fire is not known, but is supposed to have been caused either by some children or somebody carelessly throwing away a match after lighting a pipe. There was little damage done besides burning up the undergrowth.

The Seaman's

Friend Society of the West church held their final social of a very successful season, last evening.

David Young of Valpey's Market has moved his family from Summer street to the house he has just purchased on Washington avenue.

Joseph Daly has resumed his duties at the Andover Press after his recent illness.

William Anderson, tailor employed by Burke & Co., has moved his family from Lawrence to Lowell street, this town.

William Harnden Foster, the local artist, was hit by a pitched ball in Punchard-Alumni game Monday and received a fractured arm.

George Walsh, Joseph Daly and John Carse attended the Marathon race and the ball game between the Boston Nationals and Brooklyn in Boston, on April 19.

Harry J. Hyland of Wakefield has accepted the position as manager of the Family Shoe Store.

Jerome Cross has opened his new Riding Academy where men, women and children may learn the art of horseback riding under the auspices of an efficient instructor.

A motorcycle accident occurred on the Reading Road in the vicinity of Martin's Pond Sunday afternoon. The driver, although badly shaken up, escaped without any serious injury.

The Punchard high baseball team will open its season tomorrow morning at ten at the Balldale playstead against the Alumni. It will be the first game under the tutelage of William McDonald, who was last week appointed coach to succeed Gene Lovejoy, who retired because of pressure of scholastic business. Gene had been mentor for over a quarter of a century.

went to Memorial auditorium Tuesday night had a very pleasant Holiday. Proving once again that their keen interest in every phase of play production has its reward in the knowledge that the finished job is something to be proud of.

Members and guests of the Andover League of Women Voters met on Tuesday at the Log Cabin of Phillips Academy to hear a program discussion by Mrs. LaRue Brown, president of the Massachusetts League. Before a roaring fire, members sat down at long tables to eat the box lunches they

Mix together:

- 2 and 2/3 cups Bran flakes
- 1 and 1/2 cups bran meal
- 1 and 1/2 cups sliced almonds
- 8 large pitted chopped prunes
- 16 chopped dried apricot halves
- 1/2 cup raisins.

Lunch:

Mix together

- 1/4 cup chopped cooked chicken
- 1/4 cup minced apple (with peel)
- 1 tbsp. sliced almonds
- 1 tsp. imitation mayonnaise
- 2 slices whole-grain bread
- 2 tbsp. shredded lettuce

Dinner

Glazed Chicken Stroganoff

- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 shallot, thinly chopped
- 1/4 cup thinly sliced onion
- 1 cup quartered small mushrooms
- 1/4 cup dry white wine
- 1 cup defatted chicken broth
- 6 oz. boned, skinned chicken breast, sliced into thin strips
- 1 tbsp. cornstarch
- Coarsely ground pepper
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 cup cooked, drained wide noodles
- 2 tbsp. sour cream
- Paprika and chopped parsley (optional)

Saute garlic, shallot, onion and mushrooms in white wine in skillet, stirring until onions are translucent, about five minutes. Add small amount broth as needed, up to 1/4 cup. Remove vegetables and set aside.

In same skillet, simmer chicken over low heat in 1/2 cup broth until tender, about four minutes.

Dissolve cornstarch in remaining 1/4 cup broth and stir into chicken. Stir in seasonings, sour cream and cooked vegetables.

Serve over noodles. Sprinkle with paprika and parsley, if desired. Makes 2 servings.

Waiting to register for the SHED day-care program at Shawsheen School are scores of parents, who began arriving early in the morning for the 6 p.m. registration Tuesday. According to Sydney Bialo, director of the program, 115 registered for 76 slots available in the fall. Slots will be filled on a first-come basis and parents will be notified in July, when SHED personnel will know the schedule of kindergartners so SHED slots can be filled with three-day, four-day and five-day participants.

Talk is on coping with loneliness

By Mary A. Byrne

Janice Ventre of the Samaritans will speak on "Coping with Loneliness" on Monday, April 30, at 1 p.m. at the Senior Center. Refreshments will be served.

Join Kenneth Mahony at the center Tuesday, May 1, at 1 p.m. to discuss the future of the central business district.

Mary McKillop of VNA/Homecare, Inc. will conduct a community education seminar on "Care, Cost and Coverage" of health care benefits you are entitled to.

The response for recipes for our cookbook has not been as good as I had hoped.

THE SPINE

From front to back the spine should be straight up and down.

A side view of the normal spine should show four curves — two curves to the front and two to the back.

An auto accident, a severe fall or injury can cause these vertebrae to become subluxated causing pressure on the spinal nerves. Every organ in the body has a nerve supply and any time these nerves are pinched by misaligned vertebrae they can cause various discomforts — headaches, back or neck tension, shoulder pain, etc.

That leads us to ask:

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC AND HOW CAN IT HELP?

Chiropractic Care is a Drugless Natural Way to Good Health!

Discovered by D. D. Palmer in 1895, chiropractic today is widely recognized as a primary health care system and is included within the Medicare and Medicaid programs along with 640 insurance companies.

Many people think that chiropractic deals only with back problems — this is a misconception which we would like to explain. CHIROPRACTIC deals with the spinal column and the spinal cord which carries all the vital nerves of the entire body. The science of Chiropractic is founded on the premise that adequate nerve supply is of prime importance in regulating body function. Chiropractors use this scientific principle to maintain health and to correct the cause of disease. The soundness of its basic principle is documented by countless sufferers restored to good health by Chiropractic care.

There is no way that we can tell you all about Chiropractic care in a few short paragraphs — but a short visit to our office and we can answer any questions that you may have.

CHIROPRACTIC RESULTS

These are x-rays taken of a patient after an automobile accident, and the corrective results from the chiropractic adjustments.

Andover woman among Y honorees

The Bear Island Camps Association, the fund-raising arm of the Merrimack Valley YMCA summer camps, held its third annual Hall of Fame induction at the Sheraton Lexington Inn. The organization honored three individuals who have dedicated years of outstanding service to either Camp Lawrence for boys or Camp Nokomis for girls.

The honorees were the late Elaine Kent of Andover, Robert McManus of Lynn and Virginia Tulloch of Milton.

The Bear Island Camps Association was formed in 1977 in order to provide a base of financial support for the YMCA resident camps. For further information about the association and its activities, contact Tom McGrath at 975-1330.

Kathleen and Joseph Travers

Kathleen Gemmell weds J.L. Travers

Kathleen Anne Gemmell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Gemmell Jr. of 290 Salem St., and Joseph Leonard Travers, son of Mary V. Travers of Foxboro, were married Oct. 7.

The Rev. Stanley Smith O.S.A. and the Rev. Charles Kinsella performed the ceremony at St. Augustine Church in Andover.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Margaret Gemmell as maid of honor. Her bridesmaids were Suzanne Gemmell, Mary Rees, Christine Rees and Jean Turner.

Joseph Cass was the best man, and Stephen Gemmell, Martin Doyle, Mark Bearce and Gilbert Campos were ushers.

After a reception at the Sheraton Andover Hotel and Conference Center, the couple took a wedding trip to Palm Springs, Calif., and took a coastal drive to San Francisco.

The bride received a bachelor of science degree in speech communication from Northeastern University in 1988. She is a college relations coordinator at GTE Government Systems in Needham.

The groom, who received a BS in accounting from Suffolk University in '86, is a cost accounting supervisor at Encore Computer in Marlboro.

They live in Norton.

Scholars speak next weekend

Temple Emanuel of Andover will present its Benjamin Russem Scholar-in-Residence program, which will feature Dr. David Neiman and Rabbi Roland Gittelsohn, on Friday, May 4. The Russem Scholar-in-Residence weekend will begin Friday at 10 a.m. with a Clergy Institute.

Christian clergy have been invited for a special program with Dr. Neiman followed by a lunch served by the Temple Emanuel Sisterhood. If any members of the clergy have been inadvertently overlooked, Rabbi Harry Roth asks that they call the temple. Rabbi Gittelsohn will speak at Sabbath services on Friday evening.

Dr. Neiman is a professor of Jewish studies at Boston College and serves as rabbi of Temple Beth Zion in Brookline. He is the first Jewish scholar and rabbi to be appointed as a professor of Jewish theology at a Catholic university and has served on the BC faculty for many years.

He was also the first Jewish scholar to be invited as visiting professor of theology at the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, an academic institution of Jesuit learning associated with the Vatican. Dr. Neiman served as vice president of the Jewish Community Relations Council of Greater Boston and is chairman of the Holocaust Memorial Committee. He has been active in interreligious dialogue as chairman of the Catholic-Jewish Committee of the Archdiocese of Boston and other dialogue groups.

Rabbi Gittelsohn is rabbi emeritus of Temple Israel in Boston where he served as rabbi for 24 years. He is a former president of the Massachusetts Board of Rabbis, the Jewish Community Council of Boston and the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

Rabbi Gittelsohn has served on state and national civic committees and been prominent in civil-rights activities. As a decorated chaplain during World War II, he participated in the Iwo Jima campaign and delivered the dedicatory sermon at the Fifth Marine Division Cemetery in Iwo Jima.

Benjamin Russem was one of the founders of Temple Emanuel. A self-educated merchant, philosopher and humanitarian, he contributed his enthusiasm and leadership to many charitable endeavors, Jewish as well as non-Jewish, said temple members. The Temple Emanuel Scholar-in-Residence program is a tribute to his memory.

Temple hosts interfaith brunch

Temple Emanuel of Andover will host a brunch for interfaith families and couples Sunday, May 6, from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. This special gathering will be co-sponsored by temples throughout the Greater Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire.

All interfaith couples and families are invited to this informal and social meeting. Representatives of co-sponsoring temples will welcome guests and speak briefly about their respective outreach programs. Babysitting will be available.

"We believe it is important to reach out to welcome participation from the substantial number of intermarried families in our area," said Dr. Robert Stier, chairman of Temple Emanuel's outreach committee.

The Rev. Dr. George Karahalios censes the "epitaphios," the symbolic burial place of Christ, and the congregation of Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church during Good Friday services. The epitaphios is later brought outdoors and circles the church. This year Easter was concurrently observed by the Orthodox and Western churches.

Temple honors Roths' retirement

Temple Emanuel of Andover will honor the retirement of Rabbi Harry and Lillian Roth with a dinner and entertainment on Sunday, June 17.

Rabbi Alexander Schindler, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, will speak at Sabbath services on June 15. A special Oneg Shabbat will follow the services in honor of the Roths.

If your church or temple is doing something interesting, let the Townsman know at P.O. Box 1986.

Church holds May breakfast

First Baptist Church of Tewksbury will hold its 65th annual May breakfast Saturday, May 12, from 6:30 to 9:30 a.m. in the parish hall, 1500 Andover St.

Home-baked foods will be served, and there will also be a flea market.

A full breakfast costs $3.50 for adults and $2 for children 10 and under. The continental breakfast is $1.50.

mittee. "We hope that those who are unaffiliated with other temples as well as those who are currently members of other congregations will come to meet others of like circumstance."

Although many outreach programs exist in the region, input is needed for development of new services, temple officials said. Outreach is a project developed within Reform Judaism in recent years to assist interfaith families and couples considering marriage. It is designed to welcome and support these people and encourage participation in Judaism.

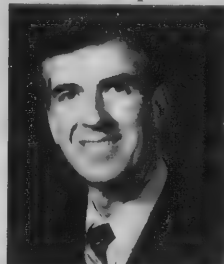

There is no charge for the brunch. However, those wishing to attend are requested to notify Temple Emanuel by April 30.

Psychologist to lecture

Rev. Dr. James Eckels, an analytical psychologist who practices in Andover, will be the special guest lecturer at a conference Friday, May 4.

Dr. Eckels will talk about Pablo Picasso's "Minotaur." He will speak at the 18th Clergy and Clinical Conference at 9 a.m. at St. Luke's Chapel at Danvers State Hospital.

Conference participants will look at the five panels in which Picasso worked out the stages of the bull, which Dr. Eckels says parallels the developmental stages of psychic renewal.

A panel discussion will follow.

Dr. Eckels is an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ and a licensed psychologist. He is also a diplomat of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors and a full supervisor of clinical pastoral education.

He was the chaplain at Danvers State from 1969 to '78. He gave up the post to study analytical psychology at the C.G. Jung Institute in Zurich, Switzerland, where he spent three years.

UU church has guest minister

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover will welcome Rev. Gary Kowalski to the pulpit as guest minister on Sunday, April 29.

Rev. Kowalski was a student minister at the church in 1980-'81 while attending Harvard Divinity School. After receiving his master of divinity degree in 1982, he was called by the First Unitarian Universalist Church in Seattle, Wash., and served there until 1989.

Rev. Kowalski is currently the minister of the First Unitarian Universalist Society in Burlington, Vt.

In his sermon "Dead Poets," Rev. Kowalski will reveal why he has selected "Dead Poets Society" as best religious film of the past year. His sermon will delve into the works of a few dead (and not-so-dead) poets to discover what they have to teach about life, death, love and other matters of consequence, church officials said.

Services begin at 10:30 a.m. at the church, 6 Locke St.

TOWNTALK

Jane Gefvert of Andover is involved in an effort to raise funds for a Women in Military Service Memorial, to be located at the Memorial Gate entrance at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C.

Ms. Gefvert, who served in World War II, says "We think it's time the women are remembered. This is going to be for the women who served in the military since the military started."

The memorial will include 10 triangular glass prisms on top of the entrance's hemicycle, new stairways and an educational center with a computer bank of names, photographs and anecdotes from women who have served in the military. The center also will include an auditorium.

The group's greatest problem is locating women veterans. Women veterans are asked to fill out the required form and send it along with $25 and a picture of themselves while they served, to the memorial. Mrs. Gefvert has forms.

Building of the memorial will begin no later than November 1991. And the group needs $15 million more.

Ms. Gefvert is a field representative for this activity.

She organized the first unit of WAVES National in Massachusetts.

Vicki Coderre, of 37 Stinson Road, treasurer of The Village Garden Club, recently visited Israel. To honor members of the club, she planted a tree there.

Thylas Moss, nationally recognized poet and English teacher at Phillips Academy, is currently on sabbatical from the school, working on her third anthology of poetry and other literary works. Ms. Moss' second book of poetry, "Pyramid of Bone," was chosen first runner-up in this year's National Book Critics Circle Award.

Andover resident Jane Gefvert, right, and Brig. Gen. Wilma L. Vaught are shown at a recent luncheon in Boston for "Women in Military Service Memorial."

She recently judged the Eagle-Tribune's Spring poetry contest, and picked a fellow Andover resident, Robert Miroso-la's poem, for first place.

Dave Rodger was awarded a plaque and thanked for his contributions to the Massachusetts and Rhode Island Book Sellers Inc. Mr. Rogers, the group's president for the past two years, has helped organize various literacy programs and fundraisers.

Valli Swerdlow of 27 Wolcott Ave., interior decorator and author of "Dress Your House for Success," will be a featured guest at the 1990 Suburban Home and Garden Show today, Thursday, through Sunday, April 29, at the Northeast Trade Center in Woburn. Also featured will be Roger Swain, host of the Suburban Garden segment on PBS "The Victory Garden." If you want to catch the Andover interior decorator, the hours of the show are 4-10 p.m. on Thursday and Friday; 10 a.m.-10 p.m. Saturday; and Sunday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Admission is $4.

The work of two Andover artists, Rita Dziadosz and Marjorie Rodgers, is currently on exhibit at the West Boxford Library. There, the downstairs room is full of hand-painted stencils and screens by the two. The women, who are friends and neighbors, bought a book and taught themselves how to decorate furniture. The exhibit runs through the end of April and is free of charge. Library hours are Monday and Wednesday, noon to 8 p.m.; Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, noon to 6 p.m.; and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

There's a wreath at Route 125 and Vine Street in memory of Garry S. Cunio, who died at that site in an alleged drunk-driving accident May 4. The wreath, along with others in other communities, was placed there last Sunday by Mothers Against Drunk Driving. Mr. Cunio's wife, Donna Cunio, decorated the wreath to reflect her late husband's interests. It is decorated with golf balls and a tax-fighting cap. He was an avid golfer and the cap reflects the fact that Mr. Cunio had just been elected chairman of the Massachusetts Society of CPA's at the time of his death.

The Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce is courting a film director to make a movie in the Merrimack Valley, which might include shooting several scenes in Andover, according to Ron Mills, Andover chamber manager.

The chamber hosted a luncheon Friday, April 20, for writer and director, Dan Adams. Mr. Adams made his feature film directing debut with "Religion, Inc.," starring George Plimpton, which was an entry in last summer's Boston Film Festival. The director also co-wrote the script for that movie with Michael Mailer, son of author Norman Mailer.

Mr. Adams is now working on a film called "Primary Motive," a story about Massachusetts politics, starring Judd Nelson ("Breakfast Club") and Armand Assante ("Q and A," "Private Benjamin"). (Continued on page 38)

OBITUARIES

John S. Barss, 89

Phillips physics teacher

John Sedgwick Barss, 89, a teacher of physics and an environmentalist, died Thursday, April 19, at his home at 9 Torr Road.

Mr. Barss was on the faculty at Phillips Academy from 1923 to 1965, where he served as an instructor in physics on the Ammi Wright Lanchashire Foundation and chairman of both the physics department and the Evans Hall Building Committee.

Mr. Barss was born in Sharon, Conn. He graduated from Hotchkiss School in Lakeville, Conn., in 1918 and from Harvard College in 1922. He received a master's degree in chemistry from Harvard in 1923.

Mr. Barss was a member of the National Science Foundation Project on teaching physics to engineers. He was a volunteer at the Museum of Science in Boston and at Memorial Hall Library.

He co-founded the Andover Evening Study Program and was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and of the Eastern Association of Teachers of Physics. He was active in environmental associations, including the Andover Village Improvement Society.

Members of his family include his wife, Helen (Whitcomb) Barss; a son, Lawrence Barss of Belmont; a daughter, Helen S. Schneider of Mount Vernon, N.H.; four grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Services at Phillips Academy Cemetery were private.

Friends are invited to memorial services at Cochran Chapel on the Phillips campus Monday, April 30, at 3 p.m.

Memorial contributions may be made to environmental organizations.

Arrangements are by the Dewhirst and Conte Funeral Home of North Andover.

Jessie A. (Young) Leach Driscoll, 85, of Methuen died Wednesday, April 18, at her home.

Mrs. Driscoll had been a bank clerk at Essex Broadway Savings Bank in Lawrence for 12 years.

She was born in Methuen and was a life resident. She was educated in Methuen and Lawrence public schools and was a 1922 graduate of Lawrence High School.

She was a member of St. Augustine Episcopal Church in South Lawrence. She was also a member of the Methuen Twilights, the Methuen Young at Heart, the St. Theresa's Rainbow Club and the Methuen Senior Citizens.

She was the widow of John S. Leach, and members of her family include her husband, George F. Driscoll; a stepson and daughter-in-law, George F. and Gertrude Driscoll Jr. of Methuen; grandsons, David W. Leach of Juno, Ala., Stephen E. Leach of North Andover, Dana G. Driscoll of Lowell and Dean C. Driscoll of Methuen; a granddaughter, Deborah E. Johanson of Andover; one great-granddaughter; and several nieces, nephews and cousins. She was also the mother of the late John G. Leach.

Funeral services were held at Charles F. Dewhirst Funeral Home in Methuen. Burial was in Bellevue Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Methuen Senior Center, 77 Lowell St., Methuen, Mass., or St. Augustine Episcopal Church, 297 S. Union St., Lawrence, Mass.

Albert J. Frederick, 66

Local bricklayer

Albert J. Frederick, 66, of 700 Bulfinch Road died Friday, April 20, at his home after a short illness.

Mr. Frederick was born in Lawrence April 5, 1924.

He was a bricklayer for local contractors, and owned and operated A.J. Frederick and Son.

He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II. He was a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2458 and the American Legion Post 136, both in Andover, and the Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks Post 2070.

Family members include his wife, Theresa (Bourassa) Frederick; two daughters, Diane Savoca and Maureen Valentine, both of Andover; three sons, Edward Frederick of Dallas, Texas, Donald Frederick of Honolulu, Hawaii, and James Frederick of Andover; and 14 grandchildren.

Burial was to be at Spring Grove Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Merrimack Valley Hospice, 1 Union St., Andover, Mass. 01810.

Arrangements were by M.A. Burke Funeral Home in Andover.

Where can a person play tennis here?

By Sherrie Espy, William Rapp, Shirley Schaeffer and Lois Karfunkle

Andover offers many options for tennis players to enjoy their sport.

Andover maintains 18 tennis courts of which 11 are presently useable. Four courts are located at Recreation Park (these courts have lights and can be used at night) and seven courts are at Andover High School. The seven remaining courts located at the Middle School are not playable due to large cracks on the playing surface. The refurbishing of these courts has been scheduled for this next fiscal year. There are no backboards at any of the public facilities.

The town's Department of Community Services (DCS) offers tennis instruction for beginning, intermediate and advanced players. Classes start the week of April 22 and last six weeks at a cost of $44 per session. Some spaces are still available. The instructor this spring is Christine Wood. She was ranked #1 as a junior in New England and was NCAA and Bay East champ as a member of the Boston College tennis team. For further information, contact DCS at 470-3800.

Andover Tennis Club, Newcomers Club and the Andover/North Andover Branch of the YMCA are among the non-profit community organizations that offer tennis facilities.

The Andover Tennis Club (ATC) provides recreational and social activities for its members. The club leases clay tennis courts at Phillips Academy from Memorial Day through just after Labor Day. Use of the courts is typically limited to evenings and weekend with extended hours during non-school days. The club's programs include Saturday-morning drop-in round robins for men and women, tennis parties, junior tennis classes and private lessons. A limited number of new memberships are available. New members may apply now and are accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis. Fees are $40 single and $55 family. Call Carolyn Koehler at 683-2087 for an application form.

Newcomers offers indoor women's round robin and couple tennis at Willows Tennis Club in North Andover. Women's round robin tennis plays weekly September through April. The program offers beginner, intermediate and advanced intermediate level of play. An intermediate level of couples tennis plays once a month on Friday nights, followed by a social. You must be a member of Newcomers to participate.

The Andover/North Andover Branch of the YMCA leases courts at Phillips Academy and Heritage Green for tennis lessons for children ages 8 to 16. Beginner and intermediate classes are held two times per week starting in July. At this time the YMCA does not offer adult lessons. For further information, call 685-3541.

A number of private clubs offer tennis. A few of these clubs are Rolling Green Tennis Club, Willows Racquet and Fitness Center, Cedardale, North Meadow Racquet and Health Recrearium, Trull Brook Golf and Tennis Center, Bollettieri-Chang Tennis Center in Middleton and Indian Ridge Country Club. A number of door tennis facilities available to the pub-area private schools lic on a limited basis.

min"). Much of the film is to be filmed in Boston and on Cape Cod, but the chamber is trying to convince the director that using Merrimack Valley locations would be easier and less expensive than shooting parts of the movie elsewhere.

Andover locations being considered for the movie are Phillips Academy, the Lanam Club, the Marriott Hotel and the Sheraton Hotel.

The movie has a $5 million production budget, a $2.3 million advertising budget and is thought to have Academy Award potential, according to Mr. Mills. Filming here could bring jobs and money for the short term, and it could have broader impact as well, according to Mr. Mills.

"I think it's going to showcase the area," Mr. Mills said.

But he cautioned that no decision had been made yet.

I was standing in line at the bank talking with the woman in front of me and she said, "You know, next to my home, your bookstore is my favorite place in Andover." I liked that.

Residents complain about nursing home

By Don Staruk

Approximately a dozen Ballardvale area residents complained to the Planning Board Tuesday night that a nursing home development planned for a property on Andover Street would add to an already bad traffic situation and could increase flooding of their properties.

Continental Wingate Co., of Boston, is planning construction of a nursing home and adult daycare facility for a property on the southeast side of Andover Street at the intersection of Dascomb Road.

But the neighbors said the construction of Wingate at Andover would increase the number of accidents at an intersection that is already being overrun with truck and auto traffic commuting between Lowell Junction Road, downtown and Interstate 93.

The neighbors said the traffic at the Dascomb Road intersection is so bad the town has stopped replacing the traffic signal pole that has been knocked down so many times.

"They should put a spring on it," said Peter McCarthy, of 69 Andover St.

"My husband has dug 14 potholes for 15 mailboxes" over the years, said Carlotta McCarthy, Peter McCarthy's wife.

"What do you need for an incident here for the town to wake up?" Mr. McCarthy asked members of the Planning Board.

In addition to speeding cars and curves in the road around the intersection, the recent closing of Clark Street to truck traffic has sent more trucks coming from the Lowell Junction industrial area through the intersection.

The neighbors also told the board members that, regardless of what flow-rate studies and engineering calculations indicate, the area is flooded much of the time.

"I've seen that land flooded with at least a foot of water for a week at a time," said Ervin Livingston, of 96 Andover St.

The neighbors also pointed to noise and vibration from the railroad tracks, a lack of sidewalks and drainage funneled into the area from the Indian Ridge development in making their argument against the location for the nursing home.

The Planning Board continued the discussion until Tuesday, May 22, at 8:30 p.m. They asked town planners to request information on traffic and accident statistics in the area from police and for an opinion on the drainage and flooding from John Avery, the town engineer.

Town survey

Only about 1,200 town surveys have been returned to the Planning Department out of the 10,800 that were sent out with the Finance Committee Special Town Meeting report, according to planner Laura Hill.

"I think it was around 1,200," Ms. Hill said.

The results of the survey are being fed into a computer by Planning Department employees. Summaries of the information should be completed in time to be available for June Town Meeting.

Bus route changes

Changes to bus routes 21 and 22, approved by selectmen this week and to go into effect July 1, should make service to Memorial Circle much more convenient for the senior citizens living there.

Several passengers had complained of lengthy bus rides from the senior center to the Stowe Court and Memorial Circle area, according to Laura Hill, town planner.

One of the changes would add Memorial Circle to route 21 to provide two-way service to the area. The changes will also provide better access to Doctor's Park and Shawsheen Plaza, according to Ms. Hill.

Group to talk about camp

Families interested in summer day camp and overnight camp for girls ages 5 through 17 are invited to a camp information night at Spar and Spindle Girl Scout Council, 1740 Turnpike St., Route 114, North Andover, tonight, April 26, at 7:30 p.m.

Camp staff and former campers will present a slide show, sing camp songs and answer questions about camp. Day camps are the Center in Rowley, Camp Kiwanis in Tyngsboro, Camp Merrymeet in Andover and an overnight camp in Pelham, N.H.

Day camps operate throughout the summer from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and bus transportation is available. Overnight camp at Camp Runels offers one- and two-week sessions with programs ranging from canoeing, star-gazing and theater to farming, hiking and sailing.

'Respect' is theme at West Middle

West Middle School is highlighting respect this week to heighten and sensitize the awareness of the school community toward the importance of treating each other with respect and dignity, said Principal William E. Hart.

This program is an ongoing effort to improve the school climate, Mr. Hart said.

The program started with a seventh-grade learning team and spread to an eighth-grade team.

Many activities were planned during the week. Two assemblies were planned for each grade, and an awards assembly will be held tomorrow, Friday. Essay, poster and door decorating contests will take place during the week. First- and second-place winners in the essay and poster contests will be recognized at the awards assembly. A pizza party will be given to the homeroom with the best door decorations.

Each of the six school teams will be given 10 buttons to be presented at the assembly to students who have exhibited the highest respect for others.

Andover celebrates Earth Day 1990

Andover residents turned out all over town on Earth Day to clean up the town. Young and old alike, armed with garbage bags, visited most of Andover's AVIS properties and picked up as much trash as they could find.

EDITORIALS

Make it mandatory

James McGiver, manager of Refuse Energy Systems Corp. in North Andover, may have the solution for recycling: "I suspect the only way you will get true recycling will be to make it mandatory."

In Andover, only 13.5 percent of the town's yearly waste is recycled. You didn't have to attend Earth Day activities at Old Town Hall last Saturday to know that there are people here who want to do their part in preserving the Earth.

Andover is re-negotiating its trash pickup contract right now. It's a perfect time for town officials to include recycling in the contract. At the Townsmen, we receive more phone calls per week about recycling than any other subject.

The climate and concern is here for a more thorough, more participatory recycling program. In Lexington, recycling has been mandatory only since 1988, and that community collects 26 percent of its yearly waste.

That's twice as good a record as Andover's. At Town Meeting two years ago, Andover residents gave the Board of Selectmen the power to make recycling mandatory. So far, the selectmen haven't acted on that authority. Sure, mandatory recycling is next to impossible to police. But that doesn't mean we shouldn't mandate it. Chances are that if it were mandatory, this community's collection rate would at least double.

And there are ways to partially enforce mandatory recycling. One town employee could inspect a couple bags of trash a week, or even a month, and act on the results. Nothing like the threat of being caught at adding to the destruction of the Earth to force a person into good habits.

There will always be those who won't recycle. They're the same people who throw gum wrappers out the car window. But if we make it mandatory, more people will participate. And that's what we need — it will save the town money and it will help save the Earth.

In addition, if the town elects to pay for a more convenient recycling program — curbside recycling for one — more people will participate.

It's time to make recycling in Andover mandatory.

Thoughts on Earth Day, PA photos

By Perry Catlin

Exhibits and other Earth Day events Saturday at Old Town Hall were well organized, well attended and full of important information. It's safe to say that with that many people involved, the effect is bound to ripple out to help clean up our environment.

Tina Girdwood, president of Andover Recycling, pointed out that there were many school children involved in Saturday's activities at Old Town Hall. It was the end of school vacation week, and yet there were scores of children available to help educate the public about conservation and also to be educated. Seems some of the kids know more about saving the earth than the adults.

The Townsmen picked off its own little area to clean up in honor of Earth Day. Sunday, some of the staff spent the morning cleaning up Wood Hill, off Haggetts Pond. We were joined by Ollie Jones and his 7-year-old daughter, Anna. Ollie is warden of Vale Reservation and obviously a conservationist who is setting an example for his daughter. And he didn't stop after we finished Wood Hill; he and Anna were off to clean up the Shawsheen. (See his photo in today's centerspread.)

We were impressed with how little effort it took to make a substantial difference. We joked about how we could put together a house from what we pulled out of the woods: parts of a car, lawnmower, barbecue, air conditioner, pottery, unmentionables, fence boards, bugs, bugs and more bugs, a complete garbage bag full of tuna, coffee grounds and papers from the budget of the city of Lawrence (we tried to determine whose trash that was, but failed), and more, more, more. Sure does make a person think twice about throwing a gum wrapper out the car window. Disgusting.

Don't expect to absorb the current exhibits at the Addison Gallery of American Art at Phillips Academy in just one visit. That would be overwhelming. I recommend several visits.

The most unusual, and in my opinion worthwhile, of the current exhibits is Sage Sohler's photos of gay and lesbian couples. If you're into photography, the pictures are worth spending time with from that perspective. If you'd like to see that gay and lesbian couples deal with a lot of the same issues as heterosexual couples, this exhibit, which includes interviews with most of the subjects, points out that idea. In addition, Ms. Sohler's photos show a sense of humor, some sadness and hope, and also a chance for us to grow.

Her photos will be at the Addison through May 20 and Ms. Sohler will speak at the gallery May 10, in the evening.

Tucked away in a small room in the Addison right now is another exhibit that's a must-see. Christopher Cook and two of his sons have put together "The Fishing Room," a room full of rods, reels, creels, ties, stuffed fish and more. It too, is too much to take in in one visit. I've been twice and I'm not even a fisherwoman.

There are two other exhibits that recently opened at the Addison. "Boys and Girls, Men and Women," representations of gender from the museum's permanent collection, and "Winslow Homer at the Addison," 85 pieces from the permanent collection, which includes some drawings I wouldn't have known were Homer's.

My advice is this: Don't try to do it all at once. I'll probably see you there. The Homer, gender representations and Cook fishing exhibits will be there until June 10.

Shawsheen PTO dismayed by 1991 budget

The following letter was sent to Andres Salazar, chairman of the School Committee, with a copy to the Townsman.

Dear Mr. Salazar:

We, members of the Shawsheen School PTO Board, are dismayed by the state of the budget for the 1991 school year. Equally alarming is Dr. Seifert's statement that "if you think it is bad this year, wait until next year!" As taxpayers, voters and parents of children who will be educated in the school system for at least the next 12 years, we are counting on you to represent us and to carry this crisis through to an acceptable conclusion. We understand that the only plausible solution may be a Proposition 2½ override and we stand ready to support it.

We do not support budget cuts that will lessen the integrity and superiority of the Andover public schools. Andover has long been able to point with pride to its reputation for high testing scores, National Merit finalists, college admissions, etc. This will no longer be the case if we allow budget cuts to erode the very foundations of our programs. Level funding is not really maintaining the status quo; rather it represents regression. Programs have been cut and the conditions of the school buildings continue to deteriorate daily.

Beyond the proposed budget cuts, we understand that many of the new ideas that have been researched for several years (the K-2 school, for example) have been tabled indefinitely, with little hope of reactivation. During a time of fiscal constraint, quality will only be maintained through the efforts of educated, committed individuals piloting new approaches to current practice. We urge you to nurture a climate supporting innovation and creativity.

We stand prepared to assist you, our elected officials, through this budget crisis. We are also getting the word to other parents and to the community at large. We are doing this in two ways: 1) by communicating the facts as we understand them, and 2) by making the people of Andover feel a part of the schools and the school children feel part of the town.

Andover residents are invited to visit Shawsheen School during Grandparents Day this May to experience first hand the dynamic education which occurs daily. We are confident that this experience will spark anew the vision for a bright future for Andover public schools.

The quality of Andover public schools must not be allowed to erode. Rather, a strong foundation, from which future programs will evolve, must be achieved. We urge you to exercise your vision and leadership to successfully guide the people of Andover through this townwide crisis.

Shawsheen School PTO board members

Thank you

Editor, Townsman:

Some thoughts on Earth Day, PA photos

At least eight or nine people should notice we changed the style of our calendars with today's issue. At the latest Townsman forum, when we invite residents into the offices to talk about this newspaper, one person complained that the upper case words that we used to begin calendar items were difficult to read. We agree and so we try today's style. Let us know what you think.

Our next forum will probably be in the form of an open house on a Saturday. Watch for the date. The idea for this one will be to attract people who can't make it during the weeknights. Also, this one will be on a drop-in basis, so if you feel shy and don't want to sit down with us, we'll encourage you to come by on that Saturday. We'll have notepaper there so you can write a suggestion down and hand it to us, or we'll be there to discuss the paper if you'd like.

The whole idea is for us to meet you, so we can pay attention to your concerns about the community and the paper. We heard many good suggestions at the last forum. We're working on some of them, and considering others.

What a success!

Editor, Townsman:

More than 1,000 people attended Andover's observance of Earth Day 1990 on Saturday, April 21.

We wish to thank everyone who contributed to the success of this event. More than 150 individuals, including area citizens, town employees, teachers and students, donated their time, effort and talent in preparing and serving at the informational exhibits and events. Many organizations and individuals also provided materials, money, facilities and publicity.

We are grateful to each and every one of you and to those who came to view the exhibits and learn, for your enthusiasm, interest and generosity in support of our planet.

We believe that Saturday demonstrated the remarkable power and potential at hand for addressing the task of saving our planet. Let's all keep up the good work and make every day Earth Day.

It lifted the spirit

Editor, Townsman:

Andover's Earth Day 1990 was a wonderful celebration. Everyone who entered Old Town Hall Saturday sensed the uplifting spirit. The mixture of youngsters and oldsters sharing concerns for our Mother Earth was energizing.

Sanborn School's second graders, the Earth Savers Club, were delighted to be part of the day. Our students, the costumed bees buzzing, parrots and chickens

Veterinarian writes on caring for wildlife in trouble

Editor, Townsman:
Please print my plea for our wildlife neighbors. People mean well when they find a baby bird or mammal that seems to be alone and helpless.

But I am asking them to please not remove it from that spot until calling their local veterinarian.

Ask the doctor what to do before breaking up a family. Chances are the parents of that baby bird are watching you take their offspring away. The baby may be learning to fly and the parents are still feeding it. The veterinarian may tell you to put it on a branch above you — the parents won't ignore it with your hand smell on it.

Baby rabbits able to hold their ears upright are old enough to be left on their own. If the cat will get them, move them to a protected woodpile with clo-flapping and deer romping, as well as those stationed by our exhibit encouraging all to save water, were enriched by this positive learning experience, as were all in attendance.

We wish to thank everyone involved. Our special thanks go to Joyce Ringleb, our initial contact, constant consultant and inspiration, as well as Kim McElfresh who conducted kick-off lessons, a vacation workshop and coordinated our entire second-grade effort.

ver and water nearby. The babies with ears lying down flat are still being fed twice a day by the mother so you may be instructed to place them under a nearby bush without touching them with bare hands (the animal control officers can help you with this).

There will occasionally be instances when humans need to rescue babies, but please let a veterinarian help you decide. Many times these creatures are stressed fatally by captivity. We all want baby animals to have their best chance for survival. Letting their parents raise them is usually their best chance.

Antoinette Doran, right, takes Ladies of Merrimack College member Jill McCann on a tour of her son's house. The Doran home on Holt Road is one of three houses on the Ladies of Merrimack College annual house tour May 5.

Walking down memory lane

Joe Feeney, Dick Dale and Ava Barber provide a trip down memory lane of Lawrence Welk and his champagne music at the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts Sunday, May 6, at 2 p.m.

Sponsored in part by the Academy Manor Nursing Home in Andover, these stars of "The Lawrence Welk Show" will bring back the themes and sounds of the popular bandleader, complete with band and bubble machine. The program will include such favorites as "Danny Boy," "Younger than Springtime" and "God Bless America," along with a selection of contemporary hits.

Mr. Feeney was a weekly soloist

Joe Feeney

on Mr. Welk's show for 24 years. He has appeared at Carnegie Hall for three command performances.

Mr. Dale is not only a baritone singer, but a saxophonist, whose rich sound anchored the woodwind section of the Welk orchestra.

Ms. Barber was a regular on "The Lawrence Welk show" since she first appeared in 1974.

Tickets are $28 and $18 and on sale at the Collins Center box office on Shawsheen Road Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tickets are also available at all Ticketron outlets. Group discounts are available.

Benefit house tour comes through town

Two Andover homes are on the Ladies of Merrimack College annual house tour. The tour, dubbed "Spring in the Andovers," is planned for Saturday, May 5, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and will benefit the college's McQuade Library and scholarship funds.

The Doran home, at 89 Holt Road, is a traditional house that's been updated for modern living. The spectacular foyer with its marble floor and unique winding staircase is just one of its features.

The house was designed so

Phillips seniors solo in concerts

The Phillips Academy Corelli Society and Chamber Orchestra will perform a concert Friday, April 27, at 7:30 p.m. in Cochran Chapel on the school campus. The program will feature Phillips seniors as soloists: violinists Tim Kokesh and Jin Choi and pianists Yvette Lee and Joseph Bae.

Highlighted works are Mozart's "Piano Concerto in A Major," first movement, Ms. Lee as soloist with the Corelli Society; Bach's "E Major Violin Concerto," first movement, Mr. Kokesh as soloist with the Corelli Society; Saint-Saens' "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso," Mr. Choi as soloist with the Academy Chamber Orchestra; and Mendelssohn's "Piano Concerto No. 1 in g minor, Op. 25," first movement, Mr. Bae as soloist with the Academy Chamber Orchestra.

The Corelli Society is under the direction of Catherine Consiglio. She received her master's degree from New England Conservatory and has been on the faculty of Oklahoma and Rice universities and the University of Connecticut. She has performed in orchestras in the United States and Central America and participated in music festivals abroad. Mrs. Consiglio is on the Phillips faculty.

The Academy Chamber Orchestra is under the direction of William Thomas. He received his bachelor's degree from Oberlin Conservatory and master's degree from Penn State University. He is in his 15th year as chairman of the PA music department.

PA seniors will also appear as soloists in a concert by the Academy Chamber Orchestra Saturday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. in Cochran Chapel. The program will feature violinist Wendy Weiner, pianist Marie Eguro, cellist Michael Hurt and French horn player Anna Minkinen.

Highlighted works are Faure's "Elegie, Op. 24" for cello solo and orchestra; Beethoven's "Romance, Op. 50" for violin solo and orchestra; Mozart's "Concerto for Horn in E-flat Major, K. 447" and Beethoven's "Piano Concerto No. 5 in E-flat Major, Op. 73, Emperor," second and third movements.

The Academy Chamber Orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Thomas.

Both concerts are free and open to the public.

Students to give recitals

Phillips Academy music students will give concerts that are open to the public.

Organist John Achenbach will perform Wednesday, May 2, at 7 p.m. in Cochran Chapel on the Phillips campus. A senior at Phillips, Mr. Achenbach is an organ student of Carolyn Skelton.

His recital will feature "Fugue in C Major" by Dietrich Buxtehude; two movements of "Suite du Deuxieme Ton" by Louis-Nicolas Clerambault; "Fugue in g minor, BWV 578" by J.S. Bach; three movements of "15 Pieces Founded on Antiphons" by Marcel Dupre; and Bach's "Toccatina and Fugue in d minor, BWV 565."

The Cochran Chapel organ, built in 1981 by Andover Organ Co. in Methuen, is a mechanical-action (tracker) instrument of two manuals and pedals, 26 stops and 37 ranks.

Violinist Wendy Weiner will give her recital Saturday, May 5, at 7 p.m. in the Timken Recital Room at Graves Hall. A senior, Ms. Weiner is a violin student of Micheal Rosenbloom. She is the principal second violin in the Academy Chamber Orchestra and co-head of the Chamber Music Society.

She is also a member of the varsity crew team, president of the Nuclear Awareness/Education Group and the second-prize recipient of the Oliver P. Grace Award in history. A four-term honor roll student, Ms. Weiner received a special recognition prize from the music department.

Her program will include "Sonata in A Major" by Claude Frank, "Romanian Dances" by Bela Bartok and "Sonatina in g minor" by Franz Schubert. Christopher Walter, a member of the faculty, will accompany her.

Pianists Beverly Min and Michael Krysiak will perform Wednesday, May 9, at 7 p.m. in the Timken Recital Room. Both are uppers at Phillips.

Ms. Min, a piano student of Pete Warsaw, is from Seoul, Korea. Her program will include "Prelude and Fugue in F Major from Das wohltemperierte Clavier" by J.S. Bach; Beethoven's "Piano Sonata in d minor, Op. 31, N. 2"; and Brahms' "Intermezzo in b minor, Op. 119, No. 1" and "Rhapsodie in E-flat Major, Op. 119, No. 4." Ms. Min excels in long-distance running and drawing. She is the director of layout for the school yearbook, Pot Pourri, and a member of the cluster social functions.

Mr. Krysiak, a piano student of Robert Baughman, is from Chicago, Ill. His program will include music of jazz composers. He is a member of the school jazz band and studies other instruments as well.

The public is invited to hear these talented students. There is no charge for admission.

Chinese dancers perform

The Chinese Culture Institute will present a Chinese dance concert at the Peabody Museum of Salem Sunday, May 6, at 3 p.m.

The performance will feature folk and classical Chinese dance in authentic costumes.

Andover dancer in performance

Jeannette Aller of Andover will dance with Northern Essex Community College's dance ensemble this weekend. Still Point will perform in the gym on the college's Haverhill campus Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28, at 8 p.m.

The troupe will perform 16 dances in a variety of styles, including jazz, modern dance, the blues, salsa and tap.

The dancers have been training with professional choreographer Christien Polos of Boston, who has been working with the group to develop dance techniques, and Elaine Mawhinney, chairwoman of the college's creative arts department.

The dances have

Jeannette Aller been choreographed by Mr. Polos, a guest choreographer and students.

Regular admission is $3, $2 for students and senior citizens.

Bradford presents play

Bradford College will present "The Drunkard" Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12, at 8 p.m. in Kemper Theatre in Denworth Hall.

This production will allow for audience participation, including singing along with the music, hissing the villain and cheering the hero. Dr. Frederik Schuetze, professor of music, is directing the production.

The musical version of "The Drunkard" is based on the 1844 melodrama "The Drunkard, or the Fallen Saved" by W.H.W. Smith. The play holds the record for the longest run in legitimate theater where it played in Los Angeles continuously from 1933 to 1962. The musical version was adapted in 1964.

Tickets cost $4.50 for adults, $3.50 for students and senior citizens and $2.50 for children 5 to 12.

Curator talks about spinning wheel

A curator from the Rhode Island School of Design Museum of Art will discuss "The Spinning Wheel as Artifact, Symbol and Source of Design" at the Museum of American Textile History, 800 Massachusetts Ave., North Andover, Sunday, May 6, at 2 p.m.

Dr. Christopher Monkhouse is curator of European and American decorative arts at the RISD museum. He is in charge of the First American Wing-Pendleton House and co-author of a catalog on American decorative arts.

Dr. Monkhouse will discuss the revived interest in the spinning wheel from a historical perspective. Using Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's poem, "Courtship of Miles Standish" and paintings by Philadelphia artist Thomas Eakins, he will examine the role of the poet and artist and how the spinning wheel evolved as a theme and studio prop.

"Where poets and artists went, collectors were quick to follow," says Dr. Monkhouse. He will also look at the spinning wheel in historic pageants, including the centennial in Philadelphia.

Admission to the lecture is $2. Visitors may view the museum's new exhibit of patented spinning wheels, "Hand Spinning in the Industrial Age: Patented Progress."

that each room gives one a sense of being part of the garden. This was achieved by the use of many French doors throughout the house.

"The Abbey," one of the new town houses located across from Rose Glen Dairy, has been decorated in the Floridian style — light and contemporary. The basic color scheme in the first-floor living room is soft peach and green. The furniture is a mixture of lightly finished rattan and wood.

The second floor features a palette of gray, mauve and pink, all in the window treatment and bed ensemble in the master bedroom. A refreshing mixture of the past and present prevails in the Victorian-style bedroom, complete with a wicker daybed and dressing table.

Also on the tour will be the Picardi home, 32 Castlemere in North Andover, situated on a knoll. This center-entrance colonial has been customized by the owners with attention to such detail as decorative moldings, painting and marble.

Professionally decorated, with period style furnishings and a palette of soft colors, the house is formal but at the same time liveable, accommodating a young family.

The grounds are professionally landscaped with a pool, added by the owners.

Tickets are $10 and available at Andover Flowers, Andover Book Store, Andover Savings Bank offices opposite the Methuen Mall and the main branch in Tewksbury, Haverhill Co-op Bank, Hay Scales in North Andover, Walls and All in North Andover, Rosebud Florist in Lawrence, Steve the Florist in Bradford, Marie's Crystal Loft in Salem, N.H., and Windham Nurseries in Windham, N.H.

Andover woman in college play

Katie Karp, daughter of Edward and Marianne Karp of Eastman Road and a freshman at North Adams State College, appeared in the college's spring theater production of George Feydeau's classic French farce "The Lady from Maxim's." The play ran April 3-7.

A 1989 graduate of Andover High School, Ms. Karp is a psychology major.

Drug abuse topic of cable play

Andover High School students will perform an original play about substance abuse as part of the series "Creating a Healthy Environment," produced by Andover health officer Dan Tremblay. The play, "Charlie's Ocean Adventure," was written by Peg Campbell of the Department of Community Services and produced by Brenda O'Brien, Andover High School health instructor. It will air on Heritage Cablevision Channel 11.

"Your Health Matters," produced by Melrose-Wakefield Hospital, takes a look at the devastating disease called Alzheimer's. Learn what this disease is really about and how it is being treated.

"Gardening in the City," continues with a program about community gardens and growing vegetables in containers. If you don't have a place for a garden, these two options might be the solution you are looking for.

"Between Takes" presents an entertaining episode with local duo Katzberg and Snyder. Meet these grassroots musicians and hear their music.

Here's the Channel 11 schedule for the week of April 30.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2

Pearl Bailey and husband perform benefit concert

Pearl Bailey will perform with her husband, jazz drummer Louie Bellson, and his band at the Music Hall in Portsmouth, N.H., Saturday, May 5, at 8:30 p.m. Proceeds from the buffet reception and concert will benefit the Friends of the Music Hall.

Ms. Bailey has been singing and performing since the 1940s. She performed on Broadway and received a special Tony Award for her two-year run of "Hello Dolly." Her film appearances include "Porgy and Bess" and "St. Louis Blues."

Ms. Bailey's humanitarian interests find her once again a special adviser to the United Nations. She has traveled extensively in Africa and the Middle East in this capacity. Ronald Reagan gave her the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 1988. Ms. Bailey has written six books. The most recent release is "Between You and Me," based on her recent undergraduate experience at Georgetown University. She and her husband of 39 years live in Arizona.

Tickets to the benefit are $75 and include a reception at 6:30 p.m. To order tickets, call the Music Hall or visit the box office at 28 Chestnut St.

Baseball hits 6-0

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High varsity baseball team, off to its best start in nearly two decades, improved to 6-0 last week as the offense produced 21 runs and lethal lefthanders Dave Blank and Chris Eggert chalked up two more victories including the club's third shutout of the season.

Blank (2-0) surrendered just a fourth-inning bunt single, and the Warriors erupted for 12 runs on just five hits in the top of the third en route to a 12-0 snow-shortened five-inning romp over Methuen.

Eggert (4-0) tossed 3-2/3 innings of one-hit, shutout relief to register his fourth straight victory, and Coach Dave Bettencourt's crew broke open a tight game with back-to-back three-run uprisings in the fifth and sixth frames to secure a 9-3 triumph over Wilmington.

Andover, which had a bye Monday and returned to action yesterday against Dracut, has already opened some daylight in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference.

Entering this week, with the season just one-third completed, AHS already had a full three-game lead over every other team in its division except Lowell. The Red Raiders rested in second place, 1½ games back with a 4-1 record. The 6-0 start is the fastest since 1974 when Andover won its first nine games, but then struggled to an 11-9 finish after suffering several injuries to key players.

Two years ago, when Andover won the MVC Large School championship and battled to the Eastern Mass. Division 1 final, the start was not as quick.

Sophomore southpaw Jim Hanning, Curt Soloman and Dana Orlando have also pitched briefly for the stingy squad that has given up just five runs in six games.

Five Warriors are hitting .300 or better, led by sophomore outfielder Jim Landry at .500. Landry, who has also been excellent defensively, is 5-for-10 with seven runs scored and three RBI.

Eggert is hitting .438 with 7-for-16, eight runs scored and six RBI.

Junior catcher Brett Hammond, author of three game-winning hits, stands at .400 with 6-for-15 and seven RBI.

Senior third baseman Curt

Soloman is .313 with 5-for-16 and three ribbies, and Peter Reming is .300 with 3-for-10 and two RBI.

"Once again the key has been the tremendous pitching and defense," said Bettencourt. "Despite all the runs the last two games we are still not moving the ball well offensively."

Andover returns to action tomorrow afternoon when it hosts Chelmsford.

Andover, 12-0

The Golden Warriors rallied for all 12 runs after two were out in a somewhat bizarre third inning, and the game came to a premature end when a snow squall blasted the area a short time later.

Andover, 9-3

The Warriors permitted more than one run for the first time in six games, using four pitchers to piece together the victory over Wilmington.

Jim Hanning started, Curt Soloman worked 2-1/3 innings in relief, Chris Eggert notched the win with 3-2/3 frames of near-perfect relief, and Dana Orlando mopped up by yielding two hits and one harmless run in the seventh.

Wilmington took a 2-0 lead in the top of the third, but AHS battled back to 2-2 in the home half.

In the fourth Matt Orlando walked, stole second and crossed with the go-ahead run on Reming's single.

Landry reached on an infield error in the fifth, Eggert walked, Blank was hit by a pitch to load the bases, Soloman and Bryan Smith walked to force home runs, and pinch-hitter Peter Johnson's grounder was misplayed for a run and a 6-2 advantage.

Rallymaster Landry opened the sixth by singling, stealing second and scoring on pinch-hitter Albie Minichiello's base-hit. Four walks to sophomore catcher Matt Daniels, Matt Orlando, Dana Orlando (RBI) and Reming (RBI) capped the offense.

Landry again went 2-for-4 while Matt Orlando reached base three times on walks.

Catcher Brett Hammond was forced to leave the game after being hit in the right hand with a foul tip midway through the game. The extent of the injury wasn't immediately known, although it was thought to be a bad bruise.

Sean Gill replaced Hammond and played well behind the plate.

Tennis remains undefeated

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys' and girls' tennis teams both received scares this past Monday, facing stiff challenges from their Billerica counterparts before squeezing out tense 3-2 triumphs to remain undefeated.

The two defending Merrimack Valley Conference champions, both of whom had whitewashed three previous opponents by 5-0 scores, improved to 4-0 overall and remained atop the MVC standings.

The losses were the first in four league matches for both Billerica squads.

The two AHS teams battled Lawrence High yesterday, and return to the courts tomorrow against Chelmsford with the boys at home and the girls on the road.

The girls have now won 63 consecutive league matches, while the boys are 66-2 in their last 68 MVC starts.

Andover Girls, 3-2

The Lady Warriors earned this triumph by sweeping the three singles' matches, while Billerica won both doubles' jousts.

In singles, senior Andrea Georgian trimmed Vanessa Donadio of Billerica 6-2, 6-4, senior Andrea Napolitano buried Donna Dantas 6-0, 6-1, and sophomore No. 3 Natalie LeMaitre clinched the win with another straight-set 6-3, 6-3 romp over Becky Behm.

In doubles, junior Tracey Goodman and senior Liz Block fell to Kathy Crisitello and Moira Breen, 1-6, 4-6, while sophomore Keri Mazonson and freshman Julie Doherty fought hard before succumbing 1-6, 6-2, 3-6.

Andover Boys, 3-2

In contrast to the Andover girls, the boys needed a sweep of the doubles to go with one singles' victory.

Seniors Mike Tiberi and Dave Hughes got the ball rolling at first doubles with a 6-2, 6-4 decision over Mike Raybould and Tim Gibson.

Senior Mike Cowhig and Rod Malitsky nailed down the triumph with a come-from-behind 3-6, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Con-an Dailey and Phil Casalini at No. 2 doubles.

Junior Chris Chiang notched the lone singles' triumph at No. 2, avenging his only regular-season MVC loss in three years by drubbing Scott Christo 6-3, 6-3.

Sophomore No. 1 singles Paul Bernardin and No. 3, junior Tim Sullivan, were both vanquished. Bernardin fell 2-6, 4-6 to Christian Ahr and Sullivan was topped 0-6, 6-7 (7-9) by Ty Munson.

Baseball needs volunteer coach

Andover varsity baseball Coach Dave Bettencourt is seeking a volunteer coach to direct a team in the Northeast Baseball League this summer.

The team will consist primarily of sophomore and junior age high school players, and they will participate in games three times per week in the 18-team league.

Anyone interested in coaching should contact Bettencourt at (603) 850-4654.

Men's volleyball at AHS gaining in popularity

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Men's volleyball, though a new sport at Andover High School, is gaining popularity quickly. No wonder — the players themselves are their best PR.

Only into the second game of their second season, varsity players Kevin Murphy, Jeff Foley and John Bishop are talking about winning the state championship tournament later this spring.

Sitting on the sidelines, waiting for the junior varsity game to finish, the three talked about the new men's sport at AHS that has them so fired up.

"This is a very serious sport," says Kevin.

"We want to make it all the way to the states," John adds.

Jeff agrees and quickly adds, "This isn't a gym game. We're serious about what we're doing."

Aspiring players were so serious about the sport two years ago they organized a petition and gathered signatures to start the men's team last spring. They solicited almost 90 signatures that year, and more than 70 students tried out for the nine positions on the varsity team and 15 on the JV team.

"These guys were really motivated," says Coach George Sullivan, who is a studies teacher at Andover High.

Coach Sullivan had to start from scratch. Many of the players were natural athletes, but the sport was new to them. They had to begin with rules and regulations as well as the basics to the game, he says.

This year almost 50 students at the high school tried out for the team. So far the team is undefeated. On April 10, the players tromped Lincoln-Sudbury 15-3, 15-4, and defeated Boston Technical High School 15-7, 15-7, two days later.

The games have been steadily drawing larger crowds. By the time the varsity games began April 10, the players had to open up another set of bleachers in the AHS gym to accommodate spectators.

Softball struggles

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High girls' softball team came up short in three recent games, dropping a 9-4 decision to Methuen, a 3-2 extra-inning heartbreaker to Tewksbury and a 13-4 verdict to Billerica.

The Lady Warriors were embroiled in a 6-4 seat-squirm with Methuen before the Rangers scored three insurance runs in the final inning, while Tewksbury overcame an early 2-0 deficit with single runs in the fourth, seventh and eighth stanzas.

Although 0-5 through Monday's play, Andover has been within striking distance in every game except Billerica. Two of the losses have come in extra innings by one run.

AHS was idle through the spring vacation week, returning to action Monday against Billerica. The Lady Warriors hosted Lawrence (yesterday) and hit the road to Chelmsford tomorrow.

Andover-Methuen

The Rangers built a 6-0 lead through 4½ innings, but Andover made it interesting with four runs in the bottom of the fifth.

AHS managed four basehits in the contest, one apiece by junior Darlene Prochniak, senior catcher Sarah Little, junior Nancy Hoffman and junior Nicole Thompson.

Junior Keri Murphy handled the pitching duties.

Andover-Tewksbury

Joanne McNamara of

Tewksbury held the locals to just two hits, striking out eight and walking four, as she out-duelled tough-luck losing hurler Stacey Pranka.

Pranka, a sophomore, yielded just four safeties, fanned seven and walked seven.

Andover moved ahead 2-0 in the top of the second, Co-Capt. Michelle DiStefano singling home the first run and scoring the second.

McNamara then blanked AHS the rest of the way, with Sarah Little producing the only other hit.

With Andover just two outs from a 2-1 victory, Tewksbury tied it 2-2 in the bottom of the seventh when Colleen Doherty ripped a triple and scored on Renee Lafortune's squeeze bunt.

That sent the game into extras.

The Lady Warriors threatened in the top of the eighth, getting runners to second and third with one out.

Lindsay Sweeney followed with a smash to the left side, but TMHS shortstop Lafortune made a spectacular catch and tagged second to complete an inning-ending, rally-killing unassisted doubleplay.

The Redgals' run in the bottom of the stanza was unearned, Terri Johanan reaching on a bunt and then crossing on a wild throw trying for a forceout at third base.

Andover-Billerica

The Indians scored in every

Kerry Lynch receives the throw from home plate just a bit too late. Andover lost the game, 13-3, and now stands at 0-5.

inning except the seventh, piling up a 13-0 lead by the middle of the sixth before Andover hit the board.

BMHS freshman hurler Beth Love limited the Lady Warriors to just two singles, by Sarah Little and freshman Lindsay Wagner.

Andover pitchers Stacey Pranka and Keri Murphy allowed only four hits themselves, but a series of walks, errors and some heads-up baserunning by the winners helped boost the score.

Kristen Hurray drilled an RBI triple for Billerica, while singles were added by Marcy Cronin, Rachel Barbarossa and Holly Sherwood.

Sportsmen's Club sets fishing derby

The Andover Sportsmen's Club is sponsoring its 41st Fishing Derby Saturday, May 5, for boys and girls 12 years old and younger.

After 40 years, the Fishing Derby will move this year to Berry's Pond in Harold Parker Forest from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m. The derby used to be held at Hussey's Pond in Shawsheen Square.

Each year the club stocks the pond with approximately 400 pounds of trout and gives prizes to the top catches for girls and boys.

Men's volleyball at AHS is gaining in popularity

The majority of the players bring teamwork experience to the volleyball program.

The list of sports they've participated in during their high school careers includes football, basketball, soccer, track and field and more.

"Only two players graduated last year, and this year we are really working on our bumping, setting and spiking," says Kevin.

This year's nine-man varsity team is led by senior tri-captains Kevin Murphy, John Thompson and Chris Merrill. The other six players are seniors Matt Ouellette and David Ahouse and juniors John Bishop, Jeff Foley and Dennis Alkman.

The coach says all the players get along very well with one another. He believes this may be a secret to the success of the young team.

Because the varsity squad is relatively small compared to other teams at the high school, Coach Sullivan says the players have a chance to develop close friendships.

"Most varsity (volleyball) programs average nine to 10 players. That's a plus in many ways. You can really develop an esprit de corps, the way these guys have," says the coach.

"I always make sure my players, both the girls and the boys, participate in some type of community service at school and in town," says Coach Sullivan.

He says this helps establish the friendships and bonds that are needed with team sports. Last year his players worked with an American Heart Association fund-raiser and helped with the Andona Society's Clown Town fair in May.

During the last two years, Mr. Sullivan has also coached women's volleyball. Women's volleyball is a fall sport. When that is over he then coaches women's basketball in the winter and men's volleyball in the spring.

Although volleyball isn't an expensive sport, the funding for an assistant coach for both the men and women's teams was eliminated from the budget a few years ago. To help coach the players effectively he and his assistant, Arthur Iworsley, divide the $2,600 coaching stipend equally. Mr. Iworsley, a physical education teacher at West Elementary School, coaches both the women's and men's JV teams.

The major expenses, says Coach Sullivan, were the start-up costs for the men's program two years ago. Those costs included buying the 24 uniforms used by both the varsity and JV teams. The men's and women's teams share the net and balls.

Volleyball may not be the most expensive sport at AHS, but all athletic programs are threatened with budget cuts in the wake of reduced state aid.

"I'm very worried about the program," says Coach Sullivan.

Another person who believes the sport is important is Ed Bishop, tri-captain John's father.

"Volleyball is the best athletic boy in Andover when you consider how little money is spent per participant," says the elder Bishop.

The varsity team is already showing promise of having a better season than last year, when it finished 10 and 10. As the players picked up on the skills they needed and developed team play during their first season, they won almost all of their games in the final half of the season to finish with an even win-loss record, says Coach Sullivan.

Coach Sullivan says achievement on the volleyball court is a combination of physical and mental toughness.

Just like tennis, volleyball has serving aces. One player who has been successful in placing non-returnable serves is senior tri-captain Thompson. Only three of John's serves have been returned this season, says a proud Coach Sullivan.

The team had last week off because of school vacation, but the players have a home game this Friday, April 27, at 3:30 against Lowell High.

defense and great footwork were not enough to top North Andover.

BOW: Peter Gigliotti, Dan Hansberry and Alex Orbon.

Andover Attackers 2-Peabody 1: Peabody scored early in the first half. The Attackers' Liz Pratt scored with an assist from Michelle Morey. Andover continued to dominate the game into the second half. Michelle Morey scored the winning goal by bringing the ball from midfield.

BOW: Katie Pratt, Madhavi Reddy and Laura Wilson.

Andover Hawks 0-Topsfield 0: Goalie Andy Novelline had a shutout with great team defense.

BOW: Jim Eckels, Tim Maracle and Eric Fox.

BUSINESS PROFILES

Roland (Chris) Chretien, president, with samples from his product lines.

American Floor Care Inc.

American Floor Care Inc. has been providing floor-care services since 1980. In their showroom you will find a wide selection of carpeting and wood and vinyl floorings to meet your needs. Their carpet selections include Lees, Designer Gallery, World, DuPont Stain Master and the New England Collection. Special Designer Collections, which are at the high end of the product line, are also available.

They carry Mannington Never Wax, Armstrong No Wax and Tarkett vinyl floorings. For wood flooring they have a selection of Robbins Sykes 3/4-inch solid oak hardwood flooring.

Mannington Wood Floor specially designed for below-grade or basement installation is a new product that American Floor Care is highlighting. Sales personnel will help you chose the appropriate flooring for your needs.

Both Lees carpets and Mannington flooring are on sale this month, so stop by and start your spring spruce-up from the floor up.

All installations are done by professional installers with years of experience, and President Roland (Chris) Chretien says that customer satisfaction is of prime importance to his business. He'll sell you your flooring; he'll install it; and he'll be there to service it if necessary.

American Floor Care Inc. can also provide you with cleaning and janitorial services. Rug shampooing, floor waxing and window washing are available, as well as flood water removal, soot and smoke removal or other emergency janitorial services.

Connie Ahern in the model town home she decorated.

Decorating Den

Picwell Builders has chosen Connie Ahern of Decorating Den as the interior decorator for their model town homes at Abbot's Pond. It will be featured by the Ladies of Merrimack during the organization's annual house tour Saturday, May 5. These beautifully designed town homes are located on Andover Street, across from Rose Glen Dairy.

Decorating Den offers free consultations with absolutely no obligation. The customer pays only for the purchases. Connie Ahern is skilled at listening to people's needs, working within a budget and lifestyle and working around the furnishings they already have. She will assist in prioritizing and present an individual plan for the customer. No project is too small or too large for Decorating Den. Connie will scout out any additional decorating accessories or furniture for the customer. She offers full-service interior decorating for homes and businesses.

Decorating Den is a nationwide organization that offers a unique concept of bringing all the materials needed for decorating to the customer's home or business. This franchise offers Connie the advantages of national exposure and advertising and ongoing educational programs to stay abreast of current trends. The customers profit from the top quality and extensive selection of merchandise available and the convenience of not having to search from store to store for decorating needs. The van will arrive at your door with fabrics, wallcoverings, upholstery, window treatments and carpet samples to suit every need.

Connie Ahern sits on the regional board of advisers in the New England area for Decorating Den and is the area coordinator for New Hampshire.

Connie will go to the customer's home with her fully equipped van by appointment daytimes, evenings or weekends. Telephone: (508) 475-7450.

At Brickstone Square, The Big News is Small Spaces.

One of Andover's best business locations has some very big news for small and mid-size businesses.

Brickstone Square is now within reach.

The same unsurpassed benefits that have made Brickstone Square the choice of companies like John Hancock, Modicon, Inc., Raytheon and Marshalls are now yours to enjoy too.

There's free parking. Immediate access to Routes 495 and 93. Richly appointed foyers. An on-site daycare center and health club. And plenty of banks, restaurants and stores within walking distance. All in all, Brickstone Square is a remarkable business environment that offers some of the area's choicest office space.

Call Marty Spagat at 508-688-9599 and find out how you can get the same benefits as the big guys.

Not just an apartment. A whole new Viewpoint.

There has never been a better time to rent. Nor a better place. Viewpoint is a landmark building offering residents an extraordinary number of advantages, not the least of which are superb views in every direction. Amenities at Viewpoint include the finest materials and finishes, custom European kitchens, a concierge, private parking, and river access. All apartments are spacious and well designed, ranging from sunfilled studios to three-bedroom penthouses with 22-foot ceilings. Rentals start at $565 for a studio; $600 for a one-bedroom, $790 for a two-bedroom; and luxury penthouses start at $1065 (all prices include heat/AC/parking). For complete information, please call the rental office at (508) 521-6800. We are eager to share our Viewpoint with you.

Voted one of the Best in the Nation.

Bartlett's Reach in Amesbury, received the "Best in American Living Award," from the National Association of Home Builders - and the Builder's Choice Award for quality and design excellence. These magnificent award-winning homes offer a luxurious, maintenance-free lifestyle situated on 100 acres of unspoiled woodland along the banks of the Merrimack River. Choose from spacious townhouse and loft designs, with distinctive architectural features like stone fronts, fireplaces, skylights, decks and sunrooms. Plus, private garage and parking. Enjoy a leisurely stroll through your own private waterfront park with boat moorings and ocean access. Or, take advantage of the beautiful Clubhouse/fitness center, swimming pool and tennis courts. Conveniently located near the junctions of Rts. 495, 95 & 110, just 40 miles North of Boston. Visit Bartlett's Reach this weekend ... it's sure to get your vote too.

Musician Bruce Coppock meets Andover

years ago.

Andover Endowment for the Arts, the non-profit group charged with overseeing the center for the town, chose Mr. Coppock, a cellist, music educator and administrator, from a field of 18 candidates.

One candidate in the running was Joan Pearson, former Department of Community Services director in Andover.

Mr. Coppock lives in Weston with his wife, Martha Edwards, and their two children, Elizabeth, 9, and Alex, 6. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees in music from the New England Conservatory of Music.

He has held various teaching positions at the New England Conservatory of Music and the Boston Conservatory of Music, as well as the University of New Hampshire, Brown University, Pennsylvania State University, Tufts University and the Longy School of Music in Cambridge.

His administration experience includes his current position as executive director of the Boston Chamber Music Society, a group he co-founded 10 years ago. Mr. Coppock says he will step down as the group's director, but will continue to play cello with the ensemble on a limited basis.

He is also the present chairman of the Department of Chamber Music at the New England Conservatory of Music. He will also step down from this position once he begins at the Collins Center.

Mr. Coppock says he has many plans for the Collins Center, including expanding involvement of Andover schools.

"I have a whole range of plans for the Collins Center that will take at least one year to come to fruition," he says.

'I would like to use the artists who come through the center to get involved with the kids who are interested in careers in the performing arts.'

incoming director of the Collins Center

For two years Mr. Coppock served as director of orchestral activities at the NECM where he acted as career and musical adviser to students. He says his previous involvement in education has fortified his commitment to providing interaction between the performers showcased at the center and students in Andover.

"Sometimes as performers, we forget how important that contact is for the children," he said.

Also included in those plans are to broaden the range of artists featured at the center, which could also tie into the education thrust he hopes to initiate.

"I would like to use the artists who come through the center to get involved with the kids who are interested in careers in the performing arts. That way they will have a better idea what it is like from the outset," says Mr. Coppock.

Mr. Coppock's impressions of the Collins Center were formed even before he saw an advertisement for the managing director's position and applied for the job. In 1985 he performed there with the Boston Chamber Music Society.

"I thought even then it was a fabulous center," says Mr. Coppock.

"It was visionary of Andover to create such a state-of-the-art performance center."

Some of the added attractions he would like to bring to the center are more ethnic and classical music, theater, ballet troupes, and possibly a lecture series.

Mr. Coppock says he will spend the next few months meeting with school principals and community group leaders to find out what they would like to see added to the services proved by the Collins Center.
